Voe Trial Jurors Still Deadlocked

Federal Jury Stays Tied Up Twelve Hours; Lock Up Until 9:30 A. M. Sunday On Conspiracy Charges Of Four

NEW ORLEANS, May 15.—(AP)—A federal court ...y considering the case of four Louisianans charged with ...nspiracy to influence a jury was locked up tonight at ...:55 p. m. (CST) after failing to reach a verdict.

The jury had deliberated more than 12 hours when a bailiff announced that court had been recessed until 9:30 a.m.

Court attaches had said earlier that there was no rule against a Sunday session in the event the jury failed to reach an agreement tonight.

They added, however, that it was up to the judge to decide what procedure would be followed.

There was no word from the jury On trial are former Gov. James A. Noe, William T. Burton, Lake Charles oil man, former State Sen. Joe T. Cawthorn of Mansfield and Marcel La Branche of New Orleans.

The jury was given the case at 10:18 a. m. (C. S. T.) after receiving instructions from Federal Judge Wayne G. Borah.

Judge Borah warned the jury that in the event of a reasonable doubt in their minds "as to the guilt of any or all the defendants this doubt should be resolved in their favor."

The case was handed the jury after two weeks of testimony and arguments by opposing attorneys.

The four men were indicted Jan. 3, 1946, by a federal grand jury. The indictment charged that the alleged conspiracy to influence the federal jury occurred during the trial in June, 1945, of Burton on charges of evading $135,000 income taxes. The jury failed to agree in Burton's trial and a mistrial was declared.

Noe, a chief political lieutenant of the late Sen. Huey P. Long, Burton and Cawthorn went on the stand

COAL CONTRACTS TALKS TO START

Lewis' Drive For Better Terms May Influence Future Labor Moves

WASHINGTON, May 15.—(AP)—John L. Lewis begins negotiating key contracts with the soft and hard coal operators next week.

Whether the nation faces another mine shutdown after June 30, when the bituminous contract expires, may be foretold better a week from now. By then the industry will have an idea what Lewis wants.

If he wants more than the operators will give, it is impossible that July will find the government starting "national emergency" proceedings anew under the Taft-Hartley act, seeking a new injunction like the one which now holds the miners in restraint.

Unions and industries far removed from the coal pits will be watching Lewis' every move when negotiations start Tuesday. The success or failure of his drive for a better contract may influence their own wage negotiations.

Unions generally haven't been doing so well in efforts to win a third round of postwar wage increases. Management has resisted. Strikes have been called, and some, like the meat packing dispute, have rocked the striking union hard.

Government labor and economic specialists say not a strike has been won this year. Some go back farther than that.

They make no exception of the United Mine Workers' recent six-week stoppage over pensions. Lewis settled for what looks like less than he could have obtained without a strike last winter.

Lewis' startegy deprived the industry of nearly 50,000,000 tons of coal. That weakens the operators as they enter the main event-negotiation of a new contract. The miners lost four to

Guards Drive Mob From Strike Area

500 Persons Swarm Over Capitol Grounds After Bayonets Used To Clear Massed Pickets From Packing Plant Section

SOUTH ST. PAUL, Minn., May 15.—(AP)—Massed pickets and sympathizers in the packing house workers strike, driven from streets here today by national guard bayonets were told by Gov. Luther Youngdahl that "You can't win a strike by anarchy."

Five hundred persons swarmed at the state capitol after national guardsmen, called out yesterday by the governor, cleared the way for entry of more than a score of workers' automobiles to the strikebound Swift and Company plant.

Several skirmishes developed during the morning as an estimated 500 persons collected at Concord street and Grand Avenue, the town's main intersection. Guardsmen battled three men, one of whom attempted to seize a guardsman's rifle.

About 100 men and women jammed into the reception room of Governor Luther Youngdahl, who previously was closeted with a committee of strikers.

Standing on a stool in his reception room the governor told the group "you can't win a strike by anarchy—you cannot win a strike by violence."

The governor referred to the raid on the Cudahy plant at Newport late Thursday.

About 200 men, most of them carrying clubs, swarmed into the plant, slugged a number of workers housed in the plant and damaged the interior.

"As long as I am governor I will not permit anything like that to happen," Youngdahl said.

"No self-respecting man sitting in the governor's chair would permit law and order to break down.

"The National Guard is out for only

MARSHALL LAUDS FREE TRADE LAW

Says Act Is Most Important Factor In Long Range Economic Plans

WASHINGTON, May 15.—(AP)—Secretary of State Marshall today described the reciprocal trade agreements act, which expires June 12, as "the most important single factor in our long-range economic policy."

But Senator Taft (R-Ohio), chairman of the Republican policy committee in the Senate, declared in favor of one-year extension of the trade law instead of the three years favored by the administration.

Marshall, in a statement on world trade week opening tomorrow, coupled the trade act with European recovery program as "chief elements" of this country's effort to stimulate world production and lower trade barriers.

"Our security as well as our prosperity is bound up in the ebb and flow

4 Children Of Same Family Are Drowned

Muddy Pool Behind Home Claims Sons And Daughters Of B. F. Oglesby Of Jonesboro Saturday Afternoon

Four young children, all of the same family, drowned yesterday afternoon while bathing in a small, muddy pond nearly 400 yards in the rear of their home one mile south of Jonesboro on highway 167.

The children, sons and daughters of Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Oglesby, were: Bobbie Dean, 14; Grace, 12; Carl, 10; and Irline, 8, all students at the Jonesboro elementary school.

Their six-year-old sister, Betty, was the only witness to the drowning.

Reported to have gone down to the pool with her two older brothers and sisters, the young girl told her father that when she saw them go under, she returned to the house to tell another sister, Wendal, 17.

Returning to the pond with her sister, Wendal realized what happened and called her mother who was working at a ten-cent store in Jonesboro.

After Mrs. Oglesby found her children's clothes on the bank of the pond, she summoned help.

Albert Perry, employe of the Tennessee Transmission Gas company, was credited with recovering all four bodies. Artificial respiration was begun at once but to no avail.

The time of the drowning, according to Jackson Parish Coroner Dr. E. Blume, was approximately 3 p. m. Dr. Blume pronounced two of the children dead at 5:30 while artificial res-

The youth was believed to have struck his head on a submerged log while diving into the water. The accident occurred about 6 p. m.

Friends of the youth applied artificial respiration after pulling McKoin from the river but failed in their efforts. Witnesses said he had a large spot on his forehead, evidently received when he struck the log.

He is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harry McKoin of Oak Grove, route 2, four brothers, and two sisters.

Funeral services have not been arranged but the body has been placed at the Catron Gay funeral home of Oak Grove.

ATOMIC ENERGY STRIKE THREAT RISES 2ND TIME

June 7 Is Final Date Of Power Of President's Court Injunction

NEGOTIATIONS AFFECT SMALL PART OF PLANT

WASHINGTON, May 15.—(AP)—The threat of an atomic energy strike bounced back into America's troubled labor picture today.

Negotiators in the long dispute over wages and welfare benefits at the Oak Ridge (Tenn.) National laboratory looked at each other across a table here, didn't say much, and broke up without scheduling further meetings.

The labor spokesman, Kenneth Scott, AFL organizer at Oak Ridge, told reporters the "only hope" of averting a strike after June 7 is for the U. S. atomic energy commission to move in and reach an agreement with the unions.

The commission declined to comment.

June 7 is the final date of an 80-day court injunction by which the government headed off a strike at the laboratory March 19 under the national emergency provision of the Taft-Hartley law.

The management spokesman, Silas W. Pickering II, industrial relations director of the Carbide & Carbon Chemicals Corporation, told reporters the parties "accomplished nothing conclusive" today but are on call for further meetings if neither side wants them.

Carbide & Carbon operates the laboratory on contract with the atomic energy commission, which owns the plant.

The strike is threatened by the AFL

Auto Workers Head Says Strike Will Lead Way For All Labor Gains

PHILADELPHIA, May 15.—(AP)—The acting president of the C. I. O.-United Automobile Workers said today "victory in the Chrysler strike will mean wage increases in 1948 for steelworkers, coal miners and electrical workers."

Mazey told a news conference the four-day-old strike of 75,000 Chrysler Corporation employes will be labor's biggest battle this year "and the most important."

The secretary-treasurer of the union, acting head since Walter Reuther was shot by an unknown assailant a month ago, said flatly:

"The wage increase that the U. A. W. will win in the Chrysler dispute will set the wage increase pattern not only for the auto, but for all the nation's basic industries.

"The steel, coal and electrical industries will have to give employes any wage increase we win or take the chance of losing personnel to higher-paying plants.

Israel Under Arab Squeeze

Tel-Aviv Rocked By Air Raids, Egyptians Move Into South, Lebanese From North, Syria and Trans-Jordan From East

(By The Associated Press)

Arab armies invaded Palestine Saturday from three directions and bombed all-Jewish Tel Aviv, but they had yet to come to grips with the army of newborn Israel.

The Egyptians, with tanks, artillery and planes, invaded from the south, and were reported to have occupied Gaza, Arab coastal town 20 miles inside Palestine. The Lebanese drove down from the north and claimed the occupation of a village inside the new state of Israel. Syria and Trans-Jordan—the latter with armored units of King Abdullah's Arab Legion—moved in from the east.

Fearful of a general Jewish-Arab conflict, the United Nations Security Council speeded into an extraordinary session at Lake Success. The meeting was precipitated by a formal note from Egypt announcing her ramies were marching across the frontier.

In Washington it was learned that President Truman may lift or modify his embargo on shipment of American weapons of war to Jewish and Arab countries in the Middle East. He was reported studying the entire question of arms exports in connection with Palestine. This came after his surprise recognition of the new state of Israel Friday night.

The Egyptian defense ministry said two columns of regular infantry and artillery drove over the frontier, destroyed the Jewish desert colony of Al Dango and passed another on the way to Arab Gaza on the Mediterranean coast. A dispatch to a Cairo

Israel, the name the Jews have chosen for their new state in Palestine, means literally "contender with God" or "God strives." Through centuries of usage it has come to mean "the chosen people of God."

The name originally was borne by Jacob, ancestor of the Jews, father of the 12 tribes of Israel. For many centuries, in ancient times, the name Israel applied only to the northern kingdom of the Holy Land, as distinct from Judah, in the south, although there was a feeling of national unity which extended it to include both.

JAMES E. WEST

BOY SCOUT CHIEF SUCCUMBS AT 72

Orphan Who Contributed To Spread Of Scouting Creed Dies In Hospital

NEW ROCHELLE, N. Y., May 15.—(AP)—Dr. James E. West, former chief scout executive of the Boy Scouts of America, died tonight. He would have been 72 tomorrow.

Dr. West died at New Rochelle hospital which he entered last night.

Hospital authorities said he had been ill for a number of years with an intestinal ailment and took a turn for the worse yesterday.

James Edward West, a crippled orphan in boyhood, overcame his handicaps. He threw away his crutches, struggled through law school and then gave up his practice to devote himself to the welfare of boys and girls.

His welfare work was in many activities but he became most widely known for building up the Boy Scout organization during the more than 25 years he served its cause after becoming chief scout executive in 1910. By 1936 the movement had grown to include more than a million boys and adult leaders, with troops in every part of the country and all American insular possessions.

Dr. West—Kalamazoo College conferred an honorary doctorate in laws upon him in 1928—was born May 16, 1876, in Washington, D. C., and was a son of Robert and Mary Tyree West. Both parents died when he was a child. Placed in an orphanage a crippling illness overtook him.

When he graduated from high school, he had become a "big brother" to younger orphans and the orphanage gave him employment. Later he obtained a stenographic position and then an assistant secretaryship in the Washington Y. M. C. A. The secretary went off to the Spanish-American war and West was made temporary secretary.

A fire burned a wing of the building, destroying the quarters of night

MARTIN PREDICTS DRAFT APPROVAL

House Speaker Says Stopgap Service Bill To Go on Floor This Week

WASHINGTON, May 15.—(AP)—Speaker Martin (R-Mass) today predicted House approval of a stopgap draft plan but expressed his opposition to a Senate proposal for one-year of training for thousands of 18-year-olds.

Martin told a news conference that the House rules committee would send the controversial temporary draft measure to the House floor this week. Then the House will approve it probably the following week, he added.

It calls for registration of men 18 through 30 years with those from 19 through 25 subject to two years of compulsary military service.

Martin said a provision allowing President Truman to put the actual draft machinery into operation 60 days after the bill becomes a law would be included.

This is necessary, he explained, because Congress will quit June 18 and so would not be in session at the time for a decision on actual inductions.

Martin said there is no possibility

PRESIDENT VETOES ONE LOYALTY BILL

WASHINGTON, May 15.—(AP)—President Truman today vetoed legislation providing for an FBI check up on the loyalty of presidential appointees to the atomic energy commission.

Mr. Truman said the bill "is wholly unnecessary and unwise." He also called it "an unwarranted encroachment of the legislative upon the executive branch."

The measure would have authorized the five senators on the congressional joint atomic energy committee to direct the FBI to investigate the "character, associations, and loyalty" of any person appointed to the commission.

The present law requires FBI investigations of all atomic energy commission employes who are not subject to senate confirmation.

Senator Knowland (R-Calif), sponsor of the bill, contended that Congress and in particular senate members of the joint atomic committee are entitled to all possible information on key officials.

Knowland told a reporter he would ask the senate to override the president.

JUNE ADJOURNMENT TO LEAVE CONGRESS' WORK UNFINISHED

By Edward Jamieson
(World Washington Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, May 15.—If Congress goes through with its plans for adjourning in June prior to the two national conventions, it is going to leave a tremendous pile of work undone.

With the tentative adjournment date of June 19 only a little more than a month away, the legislative calendars of both the Senate and House of Representatives are jammed with bills and it would be physically impossible for Congress to complete action upon them in the short time remaining.

Republican leaders of Congress would like to see some of these measures get through at this session, but the early adjournment has been set deliberately so that action on others will be postponed until next year. Included will undoubtedly be bills that normally would pass if they could be brought to a vote.

Several reasons lie behind this deliberate move on the part of Congressional leaders to postpone action on measures which have already been processed through the committees and have wide support.

The major one, of course, is the strong feeling among the Republican leaders on Capital Hill that a Republican will be elected president next November. Many measures pending before Congress deal with important questions of national policy and these leaders feel that the new president should be allowed to voice his views on these policy matters.

Similarly, they do not agree with

ALEXANDRIA FLAGS FLY HALF STAFF IN HONOR OF OVERTON

ALEXANDRIA, La., May 15.—(AP)—The flags at schools and public buildings flew at half staff here today in memory of Sen. John J. Overton, (D-LA) who died yesterday in Washington after an operation for intestinal obstruction.

The Senator's body is en route to his home city for funeral services Monday afternoon, and bural in Pineville, across Red River, where his late son, John Overton, Jr., is buried.

Overton, a close political friend of the late Sen. Huey P. Long, and champion of flood control, was in the midst of his third term in the Senate when stricken in the nation's capital.

He had announced his intention not to run for a fourth term.

The body is to arrive here Sunday at 10:30 a. m. over the Missouri Pacific railroad. It will be taken to the family residence to await funeral services at 1 p. m. Monday.

The services will be held in the St. James Episcopal church, of which the Senator was a member, with the rector, the Rev. J. Hodge Alves, officiating. Burial will be in Mount Olivet cemetery in Pineville.

A private service for members of the family will precede the public funeral, with Dr. Guy M. Hicks, pastor of the First Methodist church of Alexandria, assisting the Rev. Alves.

Accompanying the body to Alexandria by special car are his widow; their daughter, Miss Ruth Overton; Rep. Overton Brooks (D-La), a nephew of the Senator; Sen. and Mrs. Allen J. Ellender of Louisiana; Rep

YOUTH SURPRISED AT APPOINTMENT

News Reporter First To Tell Thomas Bearden Of Good Fortune

A 17-year-old West Monroe boy, Thomas Eugene Bearden, was startled yesterday afternoon when reporters called on him for an interview inquiring about his senatorial appointment to West Point.

"Why, this is news to me," Thomas said, "I haven't officially gotten an appointment."

Thomas is one of the few young men in this country ever to receive a senatorial appointment without applying for it.

After being shown the Associated Press report of the appointment, he exclaimed, "It's wonderful, but I can't believe it."

Thomas lives with his 72-year-old grandmother, Mrs. Josie Bearden, about ten miles southwest of West Monroe on the Cheniere Road. His mother died when he was only two years old. He and his two older brothers, Charles and James, were reared by their grandmother, who exclaimed, "I am extremely proud of Thomas."

When asked if he planned to take the appointment Thomas said, "Sure, I'd be a fool not to." His grandmother quoted him as saying, "I may have to hobo my way, but I'll get there."

Thomas has dreamed of a military career since he was in high school and when he discovered that he could take the National Guard examination for an appointment, he said, "I figured that was my chance."

Upon learning that he passed the test with high marks, but was too young to be accepted, he admitted being disappointed but planned to try again.

The appointment which was made by the late Senator John H. Overton, of Alexandria, came about, the senator's staff said, after Thomas had taken the National Guard examination March 2 for an appointment and passed with flying colors.

In fact, in the mental examination Thomas made the second highest grade among candidates from all parts of the country.

Unfortunately, an old law requires that army and National Guard officer candidates must be 19 years old and Thomas was ruled ineligible.

Major-General H. B. Lewis, acting adjutant general for the army, notified Senator Overton that he had an unused appointment and called his attention to Thomas Bearden's record.

Senator Overton investigated and found the young man was highly recommended and made the appointment.

(Senatorial appointees to the military academy are not required to be 19 years of age.)

Thus Thomas can enter West Point July 1.

Though Thomas is only 17, he is six feet, three inches tall and weighs 190 pounds.

He graduated from Ouachita Parish High School last year and won the Pepsi-Cola scholarship while in high school. In September, he entered Northeast Junior College and began majoring in electrical engineering.

In high school and college, Thomas has nearly always been on the honor roll and has an excellent scholastic record.

Thomas says he studies no more than average and does most of his preparation at school. "I learned early", he said, "to keep up with my assignments and not cram for tests."

The ambitious and determined young man says reading is his favorite past time, though he enjoys fishing, hunting and swimming. He prefers to read historical novels, light fiction and reference books. O. Henry, he reclares, is his favorite author.

When questioned about his girl friends, Thomas remarked, "I like the girls, but I don't have a steady." He also enjoys the movies and listening to music. At present, he pointed out, "I'm learning to play a guitar."

Thomas is an active member of the Baptist church and attends services with his grandmother regularly.

The boy's father, Emmet Bearden, is a pulpwood contractor and his brothers are also pulpwood workers in Mississippi.

Thomas formerly worked as a clerk in a hardware and feed store and attended an aircraft mechanic trade school here before he entered college.

He was born in Ouachita parish and has lived in the neighborhood of his present residence all of his life.

The room of Mrs. Carl Pitchard in the Monroe Hotel was entered sometime Friday night and a table model radio was stolen, according to Monroe police.

KEEP HOME SAFE RED CROSS URGES

Keeping the home safe is the first step towards keeping the community safe and accident-free, according to W. W. Stevens, chairman of the safety services committee of the Ouachita chapter, American Red Cross.

Mr. Stevens listed the following timely suggestions which will assist the homemaker in maintaining safe conditions at home:

1. Do you have a "first-aid" tool kit containing a good hammer, screwdriver, wrench and other necessary tools? Is it located where you can find it in an emergency and in the dark?
2. Are stairs inside and outside in proper condition, or does a tread need replacing or a railing need tightening or repairing?
3. Are the floors clear of such hazards as protruding nails, splinters and loose boards?
4. Are screens strong and securely fastened to prevent an accidental fall from the window?
5. Are there any frayed electric cords or loose electric plugs or switches in your home which might cause a fire or serious shock?
6. Has your electrical equipment —toasters, irons, heaters, fans, heating pads and the like—been checked recently to make sure there are no loose connections or short circuits?
7. Have gas pipes and gas equipment been inspected and repaired to prevent leaks which might cause asphyxiation or explosion?
8. Do you own and use a ladder, that is in good repair, for emergencies and for reaching high places about the house?
9. Have chimney flues and heating equipment been cleaned? If your furnace has been converted for use of coal instead of oil, has it been checked carefully by a competent person?
10. Do you have recommended home fire-fighting equipment? Is it in good condition and ready for quick use?

John H. Overton

The entire state and particularly our own section of Northeast Louisiana has lost a most capable statesman and a staunch friend in the death of Senator John H. Overton. Although Senator Overton always has fought vigorously for anything that was deemed for the good of Louisiana and for the advancement of our state as a whole, we in this section will never forget his expert advise and his continuous battle for adequate control of our annual, devastating floods and the development of waterways adjacent to the Mississippi river.

Senator Overton's record in Congress was a long and honorable one. He died after 17 years of service to his people in the nation's capitol. Entering the House of Representatives in 1931 from the Eighth Congressional District, he was elected senator the following year and was easily re-elected in 1938 and 1944.

Senator Overton's death occurred when he was most needed to complete the fight in which our people were most concerned. Only recently appropriations for the improvement of various bayous, rivers and other streams and basins in Northeast Louisiana were approved—measures which long had been advocated by our senior senator. These projects were in the final stage of consummation when the senator was fatally stricken. They mean much to all of our people, and there is every indication that they will be carried through to completion, but the guiding hand of this flood control expert will be sorely missed.

Senator Overton was a native of Avoyelles parish. There he grew to manhood and obtained degrees at Louisiana State University and Tulane, and was given an honorary degree at Duquesne university. Loyalty to his party, as well as to his state and his nation, was an outstanding trait in his character. But to him "Democratic party" meant the traditional democracy of Jefferson and not merely the whim of individual temporary leaders. When he fought President Roosevelt on the Supreme Court issue, he stated that party unity and success are of greater importance than the program of an administration.

All of us in Louisiana and many in other parts of the nation join in mourning the passing of an outstanding statesman, a loyal friend, a man who voted his convictions which almost always were right and one of the most sincere and capable public servants this state has ever known. To his family, The World extends its sympathy but we know that the grief caused by the loss of a devoted husband and father will be tempered by the knowledge that he served his state and nation well and faithfully.

BATTLE OF WORDS

No meeting between President Truman and Premier Stalin, or other representatives of the Soviet government is in immediate prospect. In the light of what was accomplished at meetings between Roosevelt and Stalin, this should not be a disappointment to the American people.

There were rumors to the effect Stalin had made overtures to Washington, seeking a solution to the present impasse between America and Russia. It is revealed now that overtures, if that is what they were, were made by President Truman.

Truman says the rumors of a Russian overture are unfounded, although he would be glad to receive Stalin or any other representative of Russia. He would only agree to such a conference if held in the United States.

Moscow is attempting to convert to propaganda purposes a note delivered to the Kremlin by the American ambassador to Russia. The purpose of this note is not entirely clear. At any rate, a conference between Stalin and Truman in Washington does not seem to be in the cards. It is doubtful whether Stalin would come to the United States. Rulers of the Stalin type constantly fear assassination, and the Red dictator would lose face with his half-Oriental subjects were he to journey to the capital of the leading capitalistic nation of the world.

The Soviet government could not be blamed for acting chesty so long as Washington was kow-towing to Moscow and hesitating to make a move without first asking permission from the Kremlin. It was natural for the Oriental mind to regard this attitude as an indication of weakness.

The United States has accepted the challenge of warmongering and is preparing for defense. In short, Uncle Sam is attempting to replace fear of Russia everywhere with contempt, at the same time showing a willingness to cooperate with that nation when and if it is ready to do so.

THIS CRAZY WORLD

A commentary on how crazy the world is may be gleaned from the fact that Czechoslovakia has had a constitution forced upon it which effectually denies the people any real decision in their affairs. At the same time the people of the southern half of Korea have just had a democratic election for the first time in nearly 5,000 years.

The people of Czechoslovakia are equipped to govern themselves but are denied that right by a concentration of power in the hands of neighboring tyrants. Koreans, of course, have no conception of what they ought to do; what kind of officials they ought to elect or what sort of regime they want.

They have neither the traditions nor the education for self-government. Some 92 per cent of them did go to the polls, however. The novelty of an election seems to have appealed to them.

It would seem more logical for the Czechoslovakians to govern themselves in their own enlightened way while Koreans were placed on probation until they were indoctrinated in self-government. But Russia can enforce tyranny in Bohemia by the machine gun and the bombing plane.

America was compelled to set up a democratic front in Korea as the only available barrier to the spread of Communism.

Jimmie Fidler IN HOLLYWOOD

HOLLYWOOD, May 15.—I hear that Laraine Day, now working in an independent movie (pay: $100,000), is putting on a temperamental display that has even old-timers who remember Pola Negri, Mae Murray, et al, gasping. . . . Time out for Peggy Cummins, bedded by sinus troubles. . . . According to New York reports, Artie Shaw, who recently rifted with Kathleen Winsor, is showering tender looks on Writer Ruth Cosgrove. . . . Peter Lawford is suffering from severe burns on his hand and wrist, the result of a skeet-shooting accident.

Milton Berle and Joyce Matthews, recently divorced, are on the verge of re-marriage. . . . Ha! M.-G.-Mers, who partied for Red Skelton on the 25th anniversary of his start in show business, decorated the festive board with a big ham, garnished with 25 candles! . . . Virginia Bruce has hired new attorneys to handle her campaign to get her Turkish husband, Ali Ipar, admitted into the U. S. A. . . . Eben Ahbez and his missus (he's the Yogi composer of the No. 1 song hit, "Nature Boy") have dated Doc Stork for fall. . . . Vivien Leigh, long in bad health, is seriously ill again, according to reports from Australia where she and Lawrence Olivier are now on tour.

Isn't Bing Crosby actively bidding for part ownership of a professional football franchise? . . . Look for Cary Grant to ink a contract with RKO to produce, as well as star in, his future pictures. . . . Paul Douglas, star of "Born Yesterday," and Jean Meegan, eastern newspaper scribe, have canceled wedding plans. . . . Maybe we'd better not scoff at Cornel Wilde's landscape paintings; he just sold one of his first canvasses for a neat $300.

Preview nights: Pic of a top-notch week: Paramount's "The Emperor Waltz" (Bing Crosby-Joan Fontaine-Roland Culver). Grade A entertainment that will send fans home singing and leave exhibitors dancing with joy; put it on your must-see list. . . . Outstanding: 20th Century-Fox's "The Iron Curtain" (Dana Andrews-Gene Tierney). Dramatic T. N. T. that exceeds the producer's advance promises. . . . Paramount's "Dream Girl" (Betty Hutton-Macdonald Carey-Patric Knowles). Rib-tickling comedy with Betty Hutton at her zany best. . . . Enterprise's "So This Is New York" (Henry Morgan-Rudy Vallee-Hugh Herbert-Virginia Grey). Radio's most original comic scores a bull's eye in his first bid for screen favor. . . . M.-G.-M.'s "The Fuller Brush Man" (Red Skelton-Janet Blair-Don McGuire). Hilarious slapstick that warns of mirthquake weather. . . . Best Performance: Betty Hutton in "Dream Girl."

"Body and Soul" and "Killer McCoy," both ultra-successful pictures, seem to have touched off a cycle of prize fight films. Three more movies about the fight game are now on the production schedules and several others are being contemplated. Normally, I'm inclined to resent "cycles," but it occurs to me that this one may have at least one good effect on Hollywood life. Maybe some of our actors will be too tired, after slugging it out all day on the sets, to indulge in any more fighting in the night clubs.

Four or five years ago, with great fanfare and hullabaloo, Universal-International conducted a nation-wide search for a new screen siren to play the title role in "Salome." Ten girls eventually were selected for their beauty, dancing skill and acting potentialities. All ten rode into Hollywood on an avalanche of publicity, destined for screen fame (the studio prophets said) whether they won the "Salome" role or not. Well, the other day I happened to hear that Barbara Bates had been signed for a featured role in the forthcoming Bette Davis picture, "June Bride." Checking up, I discovered that she is one of the ten beauties recruited for "Salome." I also discovered a fact more interesting than that. Of the ten, she and Yvonne de Carlo are the only survivors!

The report, seemingly well-founded, that Errol Flynn is unhappy about his set-up Warner Brothers, and would like to have his contract cancelled, leaves me gasping. That contract is one of the most fantastic deals ever handled to a star. Under its terms, if I remember correctly, Flynn gets $225,000 a year, for 15 years, for working in just one picture a year—said picture to take not more than 14 weeks of his time. During the other 38 weeks, he's free to work elsewhere, go yachting or do anything else that strikes his fancy. Why, in heaven's name, would any man want to get out of a contract like that?

One of my reporters was present the other night when 30 mediums gathered in the old Rudolph Valentino mansion to commune with Rudy's spirit. He tells me that one medium reported quite a confab with Valentino, during the course of which he complained bitterly about the quality of the movies being made today Personally, I hadn't dreamed that the odor was that permeating.

Pitching Horseshoes

At long and lachrymous last, here a nice story about Hollywood.

A few years ago, one of the b studios was getting ready to sho a film in which a large troop of cavalry figured in the plot. As technical advisor, it engaged a 55-year-old ex-army officer named Colonel Norman Slade.

Slade had been decorated in Mexico and the Philippines, and had authored several books on cavalry tactics. During World War I, he w on his way to becoming a gener when some wisenheimer invented t tank. Slade refused to accept th technological twist and began budd ing up to an earlier invention—th bottle. This shift from horseman ship to hootch cost him his hous home, rank and pension.

The colonel was what the girls ca "a fine figure of a man," and durin production, everybody on the lot mad a fuss over him. Instead of goin back to his home town after the pi ture had been previewed, Slade d cided to stick around Hollywood a continue as advisor on matters mil tary.

This didn't work out very we Hollywood has always been meg phone-deep in brass, and steady jo for military geniuses are none a far between. It wasn't long befo the colonel was changing roomi houses every Saturday and aga keeping company with the on sweetie who understood him—bou bon.

One day a casting director w knew Slade met him in a small g mill off Vine Street. He didn't lik what he saw in the Colonel's ey and appearance. After buying hi a drink, he asked, "Can you use son work as an extra?"

"Entirely possible," said the colone "if it's in my line—military."

"Come around tomorrow morning said the casting man.

When Slade showed up, he w handed a top sergeant's uniform. can't play a sergeant," said the colon in his clipped, headquarters dictio "I am a colonel in the United Stat army."

The casting director knew bett than to argue with a man who wou rather get a day's work as colon than three months' as top sergean Unfortunately, he couldn't do anythin about it—the hero of the picture w a second lieutenant.

Several weeks later, a doctor phon the casting man and told him t colonel was dying. The Los Angel police had picked him up in a flo house room cluttered with emp bottles. In his delirium, he had men tioned the director's name.

The casting man borrowed a Civ War general's uniform from the co tume department and drove out t the hospital.

"I've got a good part for you a picture we're starting in a coup of weeks," he lied. "You play a ger eral. As soon as you're up to get into this uniform and report "At least he'll die happy," he aside to the nurse.

To everybody's amazement, the co onel didn't. Two weeks later, lookin three medals chestier than Gener Patton, he showed up on the s The casting director was stumped.

"Come back after lunch," he sa to the all-of-a-sudden general.

In the commissary, the casting ma told the story to one of the stud executives.

"Don't worry," said the bossma "I think we can fix the old coot up

Twenty-four hours later, the wack colonel was wearing a uniform whic outranked any officer in militar history—one with seven stars. H job was to greet the patrons and len color to the lobby of one of the b movie cathedrals.

Until he died last year, Gener Slade was probably the happiest ma in the world. The story got aroun and for years stars and stand-in would snap to attention and salut whenever they passed the "general

MODEL MINE SHOWS HIGH GRADE ORI

CARSON CITY, Nev., May 15.—(A —The model mine being dug in the basement of the Nevada State Museum here may turn out to be more than a model.

Excavation workers learned today they had struck high grade ore. An assay of the first 2 tons of ore removed showed $66.50 per ton in gold and $27.50 in silver, Museum Director G. E. Green reported.

The museum, located on the city's main street, is only a few miles from the famous Comstock Lode.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

THE IRON CURTAIN

I suppose the producers would prefer me to say that Gene Tierney is beautiful and engaging in the film, "The Iron Curtain," and that the picture itself is grand melodrama, captivating, stimulating, exciting. If that is what they want, they must look elsewhere, for even the amazing suspense which at times holds the audience as in a vise, is not as important to me as that the picture was done at all.

Igor Gouzenko, cipher clerk for Colonel Zabotin, military attache to the Soviet embassy, was sent to Canada in 1943. He was a typical Russian official, taught to be secretive, to lie, to be a robot. What psychological force drove him to betray his government can, of course, not be analyzed here; in the film, it is the influence of his wife and the love of his children whom he wishes to raise in a free society. The fact is that with an unfathomable heroism, in the shadow of death, he did turn over to the Canadian government important files of the Soviet embassy which gave to the world, officially and beyond doubt as to authenticity, the pattern of Soviet espionage in every country.

The Canadian government published the data in "The Report of the Royal Commission," appointed to investigate the circumstances surrounding Canadians in positions of trust supplying a foreign power secret and confidential information.

(Incidentally, a federal grand jury has been sitting in New York for nearly a year investigating the American counterpart of this Soviet espionage in the United States and for political reasons has handed down neither an indictment nor a presentment. Although, as a result of this grand jury investigation, some aliens have been ordered deported, the chief ringleaders in this espionage conspiracy are free men.)

The Canadian report says of Gouzenko:

"He has undoubtedly been a most informative witness and has revealed to us the existence of a conspiratorial organization operating in Canada and other countries. He has not only told us the names and cover names of the organizers, the names of many of the Canadians who were caught 'in the net' (to employ the phrase used by the documents) and who acted here as agents, but he has also exposed much of the set-up of the organization as well as its aims and methods here and abroad.

"There can be no doubt in our minds that these attempts, very often successful, to obtain here secret and confidential information cannot be qualified as casual or isolated. They are not merely the acts of overzealous Soviet employees anxious to inform their own government. The set-up of this organization in Canada is the result of a long preparation by trained and experienced men, who have come here for the express purpose of carrying on spying activities, and who have employed all the resourses at their disposal, with or without corruption, to fulfill the tasks assigned to them.

"Some of these men have undoubtedly been well-schooled in espionage and Fifth Column organizational methods, and in political and psychologocal 'development' techniques."

It is this that "The Iron Curtain" shows in dramatic form. The American Communists and their allies have used every means, fair and foul, to prevent this picture from being shown. They say that it will lead to war. They insist that Americans have no right to know the truth about them or to adopt means to defend this country against their conspiracy. They go so far as to declare a boycott against every theater which will show "The Iron Curtain."

This film, while it is sheer drama and good theater, is the most important documentary ever produced in the United States. It should be witnessed by every American citizen; it should be shown in schools and colleges; parents should be certain that their children see it. Many persons who are innocent do tangible and sure mischief to their country; no one can remain innocent once "The Iron Curtain" has been made available to the public. As a demonstration of patriotism, this film must be supported. Should the Communists succeed in killing it, by boycotts and other intimidations, it will be harmful to our country. See it as a personal demonstration of patriotism!

Our Children

BREAKING NEW GROUND

Once in a generation something different is introduced in the methods of teaching. The usual procedure is for the superintendent to tell the principals about it, train a few teachers in the new method, and send them and the principals into the schools to instruct the teachers.

A brief conference is all that is needed to instruct the experienced teachers. They, having a background of educational knowledge and of the ways of the educational leaders, get the idea quickly. They may not like it, but they understand what is wanted and set about getting it done.

But parents don't understand it at all. They were taught in another day, in another style, and they are confused and troubled by the new way the teachers are teaching their children. "What? You don't know your letters? How can you read without knowing your letters?" "How is this? You're subtracting, aren't you? Then why in the world are you adding?" That sort of thing antagonizes parents and makes the children anxious.

Wouldn't it be a good idea to tell the mothers about such changes in methods? Explain the idea underlying a new program? Tell what an activity program should mean to pupils, teachers and parents? It is the parents who need to know. The teachers already know.

When this explanation is given and the parents, gathered in conference, think it over and ask their questions, it is more than likely that both sides of the platform will be enlightened. There is nothing so clarifying as a discussion and defense of an idea.

Were this done before any new ways were undertaken in the school, there would be fewer half-cooked ideas introduced and therefore less time wasted, less confusion stirred, and much more good will, efficiency and contentment forwarded in school and at home.

It is my firm belief, my contention even, that supervisors should be master teachers. Among their duties should be this one of teaching parents as well as teachers the reasons for the new ways, the possible values ,the latent hope that underlies the new ideas.

Children are their parents' chief concern. Schools always are asking demanding the help of the parents. It would seem then that the parents should be at least informed about the new schemes of educating their children. That work is at least as important as making out a report on the number of teachers present, late or absent during the month. The clerks are just fine in that field. Educational leaders should be teachers first, last, all the time.

Helpful habits can be encouraged in a child, but they cannot be forced. Dr. Patri discusses how helpful habits can be stimulated in a leaflet on this subject, P-14.

DOWN SOUTH

By Thurman Sensing
Director of Research, Southern States Industrial Council

"OPERATION DIXIE" FAILED

In an editorial of May 12, 1946, we wrote as follows:

"The carpetbaggers through the CIO-PAC are invading the South again They are again attempting to stir up racial strife, abolish local self-government, and destroy individual freedom . . . The people of the South will not be deluded by the CIO-PAC with their false promises and their false ideals. The second invasion of the carpetbaggers is doomed to failure. The South is not afraid."

An Associated Press story from Atlantic City under date of April 28, 1948 carried the following:

"A two-year-old CIO drive to unionize the South has been something of a flop, a textile workers union spokesman said today . . . Emil Rieve, president of the Textile Workers, told the convention 'the results of the drive in terms of members and new contracts have been poor'.... 'Every weapon, including race hatred and religious bigotry has been used against us by the southern reactionaries,' Rieve said."

Our forecast of two years ago was based on the impression that the labor leaders of the CIO had a complete misconception of the spirit and traditions of the people of the South. The current news story only bears out this impression. These labor leaders would do well to study the history of the United States of America, and particularly the history of the South, before making any wild accusations as to why they cannot have their way in the southern region.

They should know that the whole philosophy of our government in this nation is based upon freedom of the individual, that the very fundamental difference between a democratic form of government such as our own constitutional republic and a totalitarian form of government such as Russia's Communism is that the former recognizes that the individual has certain inalienable God-given rights which cannot be taken from him while the latter does not concede that the individual has any rights whatsoever that are not granted to him by the state.

They should know that the South remains the greatest stronghold of liberty and individual freedom in the land, that the people of the South are more independent and self-reliant, are truer to the ideals on which our nation was founded than are those in other regions where a large foreign element exists and a foreign ideology has crept in. The true southerner does not want to be controlled and regimented by labor leaders or by anyone else. He wants above all else to be free.

And above all, these union leaders should know that unionism as they have practiced it has, more than any other one movement in the nation, deprived the individual of this freedom. It has often deprived him of the right to work and make a living for himself and his family. It has taxed him with fees and dues that he had no voice in levying. It has denied him the opportunity of freely contracting with his employer. It has placed his welfare in the hands of absentee leaders entirely unfamiliar with, and often unsympathetic with, his traditional aims and ideals.

It is they, not the southerners, who have stirred up racial strife—just as we predicted—and if by "reactionaries" they mean those who remain steadfast in their adherence to the principles which have made this nation great and have brought our people the highest standard of living any people have ever known, then the people of the South are proud to accept the label. And when we say "the people of the South", we mean all the people—the workers, the managers, the professional men, the teachers, the preachers, and all others.

It is to the eternal credit of the workers of the South that they have not been "deluded by the CIO-PAC with their false promises and their false ideals." Southern management and southern labor, working together, are steadily making of the South a region that will lead the nation in the prosperity and welfare of its people. Let's keep it that way.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

By William E. Gilroy, D.D.

A reader has asked me to write something about spiritual growth, or Christian growth.

What can we do better than to turn to the great textbook of the Christian life, the New Testament, and see what it says?

There are many passages that bear upon growth and progress in the Christian life, but three, I think, are outstanding. The Apostle Peter in his Second Epistle, 3:18, exhorts the Christian converts to "grow in the grace and knowledge of our Lord and Savior Jesus Christ," and he had already urged them in his First Epistle, 2:2, "as newborn babes" to desire the sincere milk of the word," that they might grow thereby.

The Apostle Paul, in Philippians 1:9, makes the prayer for the disciples that their love might "abound yet more and more in knowledge, and in all judgment."

Both Peter and Paul wrote for ordinary Chritsians in early Chritsian churches, so that growth in the Christian life is not a privilege of the few, or of the particularly saintly. It is the privilege of all who profess and seek the Christian way.

With this in mind I turn to the third outstanding passage, the words of Jesus Himself, in John 15, where we have recorded the address to the disciples on the vine and branches. "I am the vine, ye are the branches." This sets down the condition and law of growth and fruitfulness.

That passage in Peter about growth in grace is differently translated in the Authorized (King James' Version and in the American Revised Version, with a possible difference in meaning. In the Authorized Version the exhortation is to "grow in grace," of our Lord Himself—that is, to take to one's self in larger measure the redeeming love and power of God manifest in that grace by which we are saved. "By grace are ye saved through faith; and that not of ourselves: it is the gift of God."

There is a parallel of dual meaning in Paul's reference in II Corinthians 5:14 to the constraining love of Christ as the supreme power of Christ-living. That may mean the love of the Christian for the Master, or, as I think Paul intends from what follows, the love of the Master Himself, dwelling in the soul of the believer.

"Grace" is a word of rich and variously beautiful meanings. Predominantly it is used as favor and pardoning love of God, but it has the meanings also of charm and winsomeness, gladness, good will, and a thankful spirit. To grow in grace is to have one's character become ever stronger and more beautiful, enriched and enlarged into a closer image of Him, who in His earthly life manifested the fulness of the grace of God.

HERE is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add 3. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.

Following the calling of the meeting to order and prayer by Rev. Filer Seals, the meeting was turned over to the program chairman. The first grade gave two numbers. Pricilla Thompson presented the first grade room mother chairman with a May basket. Julia Dillard announced a play to be given for the mothers.

Mrs. Cecilia Coulter gave a resume of the school year stressing the growth of citizenship in the school. She also mentioned the winners of the various contests in which the school has taken part. The La Tertulla Book Club sponsored a poetry contest. Virginia Lambert, Angie Ruth Barnette, Barbara Roan and Annette Haynes won places. In the safety slogan contest Norma Hendrix and Lillian Nelle Coulter received certificates.

In the column addition test given by Mrs. Chrissie Williams to all Ouachita parish schools, Ransom placed second in the parish and received a lovely oil painting.

When 4-H Achievement Day was held, Ransom received several certificates. Peggy Joyce Rawls won first place in food preparation and Vina Mae Napier placed third in baking. The school song placed fourth.

Mrs. Jules Watts gave a summary of the accomplishments by the P.-T. A. One of the things the P.-T. A. is very proud of in this year's work is their welfare work. Mrs. Lloyd Salter, the welfare chairman has attended to this project.

They have also beautified the grounds of the school.

The carnival was a great success. Then the winning of the first place in the Bobashelus Book Club contest.

The life membership P.-T. A. pen purchased by the Ransom P.-T. A. was presented by Mrs. W. D. Clark to Mrs. Ruth Poimboeuf.

The Summer Roundup for examination of pre-school children was announced for Thursday, May 13.

The P.-T. A. voted to send ten dollars to Mrs. W. E. Leonard, state chairman, committee on international relations, for help of Europe's teachers.

The meeting was adjourned for a social hour. "A Come and Fetch Party" was held in the new building at Ransom. The sixth grade girls served as hostesses and welcomed the members and guest as they entered. The table was gaily decorated with May baskets filled with sweetpeas. The teachers and officers were presented a corsage that added to the May party.

CIVIL SERVICE UNDER ATTACK

Rep. M'Millin, Of Catahoula, Unfavorable To Present Plan

JONESVILLE, La., May 15.—(Special)—In a letter to Governor Earl K. Long, mailed prior to his departure this week for Baton Rouge, State Representative Russell J. McMillin, of Catahoula, announced his intentions of fighting to overthrow the present state civil service system.

McMillin wrote the incoming governor he had noted "you have adopted a 'hands off' policy on this controversial question. . . . I suppose you will not consider me non-cooperative if I oppose the law."

The new Catahoula representative said it was his intent to give Long 100 per cent cooperation in putting over the administration program but could not support the present merit system.

"It is a sham system concocted by Sam Jones and designed to perpetuate in office his appointees," McMillin wrote.

The remainder of his letter was as follows:

"I did not sign the Louisiana Civil Service League's pledge to blindly support its type of civil service, including a pledge to vote for an adequate appropriation, but I can understand why many candidates who were not fully informed about our politicalized civil service system felt forced to do so.

"I understand this league has collected large sums of money to be used in defense of the civil service law. If the law is so perfect, so belond reproach as is claimed, I wonder why the league is always so afraid it will be changed or repealed and must take it upon themselves to embarrass all candidates for the legislature by asking them to blindly commit themselves in writing before each election.

"Many who signed these pledges were not fully informed and are withdrawing from these forced commitments. They are to be admired for admitting they did not have full information and I believe many more who want to fairly represent their constituents will do the same.

"Civil service employes in this and other parishes, who got their jobs through politics, have worked in every campaign. Now, having lost an election they hope to hide behind civil service and say they can't be fired for political reasons. I say if they're going to engage in politics and reap the beneifts when they win, let them suffer the consequences when they lose.

"I believe we can muster enough votes to repeal or suspend this unfair system which has been repudiated by the voters in my parish and many other sections of the state."

BOOK CLUB WILL STAGE CLEANUP

May 17-22 Named For Rubbish Disposal; Mayor's Proclamation

The Welcome Branch Book Club, backed by a special proclamation issued by Mayor H. H. Benoit, has designated the week, May 17-22 as clean up week here.

The proclamation is as follows:

"Monroe has the reputation throughout the state and across the country as being a beautiful and clean little city. This is because the property owners and residents of our city have always taken a personal pride in making and keeping it that way. Our flower gardens and front yards, in which so many have taken pride and worked diligently, have blossomed out with the coming of spring, and they are beautiful and clean.

"We must remember, however, that we are not altogether a clean city if our back yards are dirty and unsightly. We have had an unusually long and bad winter with lots of ice and snow, and dirt has accumulated in our alleys, back streets and vacant lots. It is this accumulation of dirt in the out-of-way places that makes for an unhealthy and unsightly place to live.

"It is the noticing of this situation that has prompted the members of the Welcome Branch Book Club to start action for a spring clean-up. They are soliciting the cooperation of the city officials, the City Health Department, the members of all civic clubs and organizations, as well as the individual property owners and residents to get behind the proposition of putting forth a concentrated effort during this designated period and for one week to so renovate and clear the rubbish that it will be easy to keep clean for the balance of the year.

"In cooperation with this idea, our Mayor has issued the following proclamation:

"WHEREAS, the health and cleanliness of our city should always be one of the chief concerns of all of our citizens, and

"WHEREAS, we must all cooperate with untiring efforts at all times to keep our homes free from dirt and disease, and

"WHEREAS, the Welcome Branch Book Club has started action for a real spring clean-up,

"NOW, THEREFORE, I, H. H. Benoit, Mayor of the City of Monroe, declare the week of May 17 to 22, as Clean-Up Week and urge all of our citizens to cooperate and help make it a success.

"DONE AND SIGNED this 14th day of May, 1948

"H. H. BENOIT, Mayor."

N. J. C. RESERVE PRAISED BY ARMY

Junior College R. O. T. C. Gives Favorable Impression In Inspection

Army officials in charge of the annual inspection of Northeast Junior College's R. O. T. C. unit declared they were favorably impressed with the training offered after their examination of the military department Friday and Saturday morning.

Col. Henry D. Jay, field artillery, fourth army, an inspecting officer, also spoke of the unusually fine cooperation given the military unit by the N. J. C. faculty, staff and individual students. Courtesy shown on the campus, he said, evidenced a splendid attitude by the college as a whole to the R. O. T. C.

A formal report and rating of the unit probably will be received early in June, according to Maj. Joseph A. Murphy, professor of military science and tactics at the local college.

Assisting Colonel Jay, executive, Louisiana Military District, in the inspection were: Col. Daniel Norman, Shreveport, infantry, senior National Guard instructor for Louisiana, and Maj. Theodore Leonard, Monroe, infantry O. R. C., instructor for northeast Louisiana. The team rated the cadet battalion in all military subjects and performances in leadership, drill and command.

Special ceremonies on the drill field at Brown Stadium filled the noon period Friday. The battalion review parade was under command of Cadet Maj. Dan M. Trimble. Music for the event was furnished by the college band directed by Francis H. Burke of the N. J. C. music faculty. Following the parade, the crack drill team, under command of Cadet Lt. Shelby Smith, gave a performance of precision drill.

In the reviewing stand with the three inspecting officials and Major Murphy were several local officers: Col. Wilson Ewing, of the Army Advisory Committee, and publisher of the Morning World and News-Star; Col. George Trousdale, infantry reserve, national guard battalion commander, Monroe, and chairman of the local Army Advisory Committee, Col. S. A. Collins, M. C., Medical reserve; Col. A. Prentice Gray, Jr., M. C., medical reserve; Capt. Gilbert Faulk, commander, L. B. Faulk American legion post; Maj. John Daniel, A. G. D., president, Monroe chapter, reserve officers association; Raleigh Poulos, past commander, Monroe post 1809, V. F. W.; Maj. Hugh McClary, infantry, assistant professor of military science and tactics at N. J. C.; Capt. Leighton L. Tapp, A. G. D., commanding officer, Monroe Recruiting station.

Afternoon inspection included observation of class instruction. These four members of the military staff at the local college held class periods in the following work: M/S Harry Jolley, first aid; T/S Roland Johnson, military organization, laws and boards; T/S T. W. Allen, administration, and T/S Berry Carroll, marksmanship.

P.-T. A. AIDED IN HEALTH SESSIONS

48 States, Alaska And Hawaii Represented In Chicago Conference

The Louisiana Parent-Teacher Association was represented at a recent Health Conference, held in Chicago, by Miss Caro Lane, fifth vice-president and state chairman on health. Miss Lane reports that the 48 states, Alaska and Hawaii were represented at this all-important conference. Much discussion was centered around the local public health services act of 1948 (bill H. R. 5644) and bill S.-2189. Miss Lane urges all local units to write to the members of the committee or to their local representatives, senators and congressmen and urge their support of these bills. This legislation will mean much to the children of our state.

These bills, S.-2189 and H. R. 5644, provide six basic services. They are designed to assist the states in "developing and maintaining local public health units organized to provide basic full-time public health services in all areas of the nation and in training all types of personnel for local public health unit work." The state of Louisiana has a very good health act—in fact, it seems that the national bill has been fashioned from ours.

By the passage of these bills, S. 2189 and H. R. 5644, the Louisiana act will require no revision. We will gain the necessary federal assistance to carry out our work to the fullest extent. The bill authorizes the appropriation of such sums as may be necessary to carry out the purposes of the act. It also sets a limit of $1.50 per capita on the amount of local health expenditures to which the federal matching ratio will be applied. The bill leaves to the states the basic responsibility for developing and administering the program to extend full-time health services to all their communities. Louisiana needs this assistance. So local P.-T. A. units I urge you to do your part in seeking the passage of this health act which will so vitally affect all children of the nation.

The united school committee met in Baton Rouge and worked out final plans for legislation to be presented at the May session of the Louisiana legislature.

The Louisiana Parent-Teacher Association is a member of this united school committee and is busy preparing a bill which will make the state superintendent of education appointive. Mr. DeVan Daggett, of Baton Rouge, is the chairman of legislation for the Parent-Teacher Association.

"The fact that the legislative school committee has approved the appointive method of selecting the state superintendent of education and will make its recommendations to the legislature, is definitely a forward step in education, and this will go a long way towards improving a condition which we feel has helped keep Louisiana at the bottom of the states educationally," stated Mrs. W. S. Vincent, president of Louisiana Parent-Teacher Association.

The united school committee of Louisiana is composed of the representatives from the following groups: Louisiana School Boards Association, Louisiana School Superintendents Association, Louisiana Parent-Teacher Association, Louisiana Teachers Association and Louisiana Classroom Teachers Association. Since the prime purpose of operating schools is to provide educational opportunities for our children, this group decided to use the slogan, "For Jimmy And Me," representing Louisiana's school children, in their public relations activities.

The representatives of the various groups include the following:

Louisiana School Boards Association—B. S. Landis, Winnsboro; *Gano D. Lemoine, Cottonport; *John J. Doles, Plain Dealing; *H. Flood Madison, Bastrop; Fred G. Thatcher, Baton Rouge.

Louisiana School Superintendents Association—W. H. McLaurin, Jonesboro; *Patrick Olinde, Pointe-a-la-Hache; *Dr. L. P. Terrebonne, Plaquemine; *J. H. Bres, Port Allen.

Louisiana Teachers Association—*H. W. Wright, Baton Rouge; *Mrs. J. W. Musselwhite, West Monroe; *Mack Avants, Baton Rouge.

Louisiana Parent-Teacher Association—*Mrs. W. S. Vincent, Monroe; *Mrs. Fred Benton, Baton Rouge; *DeVan Daggett, Jr., Baton Rouge.

Louisiana Classroom Teachers Association—*Mrs. C. W. Flowers, Jena; *Mrs. Lee Dobson, Shreveport; Mrs. L. W. Whatley, Jena; George Armstrong, Jr., Lafayette; *Mrs. Jeannette Durham, Alexandria.

Try For Deep Sand In Union, Ouachita

Experts See Extension Of Smackover Play From Arkansas; Kingwood Lengthens Delhi To The East; Murphy Sun Scores In South Delhi

The possibility of a connection between the Smackover oil trend in Arkansas and deep structures in Union and Ouachita parishes gained strength yesterday with a report that Shell Oil company is preparing to stake a location in the Lockhart area, section 6-23-2W, immediately below the state line.

This trend, according to geological experts, would include the Downsville prospect in Union parish, where Pan American Production Company has already recovered distillate; and the Colhoun area in Ouachita, where the California Company is drilling the Maxey No. 2, following discovery several years ago of gas and distillate in the Maxey No. 1 nearby.

Shell holds extensive acreage in the Lockhart sector. The past week has been marked by particularly heavy trading in mineral rights, with bids ranging as high as $300 per acre.

In Ora field itself, the score for the week stood at three new producers and one abandonment.

C. H. Murphy, Jr., completed the Norris No. 3, section 26-22-1W, with a meager potential of 23 barrels a day. In the southwest extension, Shell brought in the M. S. Futch No. 2, section 34-22-1W, with a pumping rate of 49 barrels a day. In section 9-21-1W, Sam Sklar completed the Dykes No. 15, which although not yet officially gauged, is reported to have penetrated between 15 and 16 feet of saturated sand.

West of the Ora discovery area, Sellars-Ewing abandoned the J. C. Williams No. 1, section 22-22-1W, at a total depth of 2,195 feet.

Two miles north of production, Shell is preparing for another test in an area marked thus far by one success and one failure. The new location is in the northeast quarter of the northeast quarter of section 12-22-1W, a half mile northeast of Shell's abandoned Frost A-38, and three-fourths of a mile north of the Frost A-37, a producer which extended the field when brought in about a month ago.

In the southeast part of the parish, Pan American is drilling below 8,075 feet at the Albritton No. 1, section 10-19-1E, and approaching the Cotton Valley horizon where it will seek production. Earlier tests in the lower Travis Peak have recovered "dead" oil along with some gas and distillate.

Outside Union parish, the most significant completion of the week was Kingwood Oil Company's eastern extension of the Delhi field, the J. M. Frazier A-2 in section 15-17-10E. Official gauge through a 3/16 inch choke recorded a daily flow of 237 barrels of 40 gravity oil. Production is through perforations between 3,351-53 feet.

The well is a direct offset to Pres Cochran's Frazier A-2, abandoned in 1946, and about a quarter-mile south of Murphy Sun's McKay Frazier Unit No. 1, most recent extension test to be plugged.

In the Franklin South Delhi area, Murphy Sun completed the Holt A-4 located between two dry holes on the northeast flank of the field in section 6-16-8E. Preliminary reports estimate daily output as close to 250 barrels a day.

Elsewhere in the South Delhi development, American Liberty abandoned the H. M. Robinson No. 1, section 12-16-8E, and Bryant and Caraway plugged the Merritt No. 1, section 11-16-8E. The Merritt was completed as a good producer about six weeks ago, but had run to salt water for some time past.

The LaSalle Little Creek field and Lake St. John both claimed one producer apiece during the week. In LaSalle, Hester and Graham completed the Mixon No. 3, section 26-9-1E, with a daily flow of 99 barrels through a 7/72-inch choke. In Lake St. John, the California Company brought in the Lake St. John Unit 14 No. 1 with a potential of 325 barrels a day. Test was through an 11/64-inch choke, with performations between 9,103-16 feet.

Roy Fisher is scheduled today to spud in his B. W. Marston No. 1, a proposed 5,000-foot exploration one mile south and a half-mile west of Mt. Zion in section 14-16-9E of Franklin parish.

GUARD FOR GAS POOL BROACHED

Oil Men Considering Restriction On Deliveries From Power-Short Southwest

By Howard Ealesklee
(Associated Press Science Editor)

TULSA, Okla., May 15.—(AP)—If you want to burn natural gas, your supply may have to come from your own part of the country, under a plan for conserving the nation's great natural gas pool in the southwest.

The plan is one of the things discussed by oil men here for the International Petroleum Exposition that opened today to run through May 22.

The great gas pool is Texas, Oklahoma, and Kansas. Louisiana's large gas resources also have been considered as part of the plan.

There are plans to pipe gas from both these areas to the east, and possibly to other sections. The argument against it is that too much withdrawal to other sections may mean economic ruin for the southwest. On the other side is a legal question of the rights of the nation to a great natural resource.

Explaining the proposed restrictions is a report circulated here today, made by Joseph Ross, of Dallas, Tex., to the Dallas Bar Association.

He says that the southwest has no coal, and no great water-power.

"Natural gas," he says, "is the southwest's only low cost industrial fuel. Without it, most of the other resources are worthless, for without natural gas these resources cannot be used.

"Not to regulate natural gas, is to discriminate against the whole economic structure of the southwest. Lack of regulation affords unequal protection to the southwestern manufacturer, who has no other competitive fuel available, and so unequal protection to the masses of the laboring people, who would have potentially additional sources of employment.

"The chief use of natural gas piped out of this area is for heat and fuel. But these other regions have one thousand times the fuel value in their coal reserves that the southwest has in its natural gas."

Natural gas resources, he says, are limited. The benefits to other regions, he adds, may be short-lived because of exhaustion of the gas.

"When the choice" he says "is between giving one region the opportunity of solving its economic problems, or permitting those problems to become a burden upon the rest of the country, then it seems to me that the broad national interest requires that we adopt a policy of conservation."

He cites a federal power commission ruling in 1945 in the case of the Northern Natural Gas Company that gas may not be piped into an area for boiler fuel, where ample supplies of coal are available for the same purpose."

5 PER CENT RISE IN SUPPLY SEEN

PHILADELPHIA, May 15.—About a 5 per cent increase in petroleum supplies available for domestic consumption in 1948 was predicted here by Dr. Robert E. Wilson of Chicago, chairman of the board of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) and vice president for refining of the American Institute.

Dr. Wilson said the increase in supply would be enough to satisfy the probable demand only "if new oil burner installations return to the relatively low prewar rate, and if consumers continue to cooperate in conservation of both gasoline and oil, and if we have a moderate winter, and if there are no serious strikes in our or other basic industries.

"On the other hand, if I should prophesy that we will get by, and the public relying on such predictions should reduce its efforts to conserve oil and gasoline and step up its oil burner installations to even approach those of last year, we would undoubtedly have a shortage much worse than that of last year."

Barring serious strikes or catastrophes, and assuming the governmental estimates of imports and exports are correct, domestic crude runs should be between 7 and 8 per cent higher this year than last year, according to Dr. Wilson. This represents an increase of 17 per cent above the wartime peak and 44 per cent above the prewar peak in 1941—"an amazing achievement in view of the shortages of steel and other materials which have held back our expansion program."

Scientists estimate that the salt from the oceans, if dried and placed in a pile, would form a mound 4,500,000 cubic miles in size.

PUBLIC NOT HARSH ON OIL INDUSTRY

DALLAS, May 15.—Only a small fraction of the public spontaneously blames the oil industry for fuel oil shortages, despite the fact that supply problems made an impression on a substantial majority of the public throughout the nation, the Oil Industry Information Committee was informed here today.

In reporting to the national committee, the Opinion Survey Sub-Committee cited results of the most recent opinion poll taken from April 2 to April 14, last, in twenty-two southern and western states where there were no tight supply situations. Last February a similar opinion poll was made in twenty-six states and the District of Columbia where temporary supply deficiencies prevailed.

The latest survey showed that more than seven out of every ten people in the unaffected areas knew that a shortage had existed in some areas. Excepting these areas, however, fuel oil was at or near the top in people's references to commodity shortages that they personally had found troublesome.

In spite of supply troubles, however, only 8 percent of those spontaneously queried blamed the oil companies for the shortage. An additional 24 percent were willing to place at least part of the blame on the companies, when asked directly "Do you think the oil companies are in any way to blame for the fuel oil shortage?"

NEW YORK—(AP)—The U. S. death rate for women in the United States was reduced more sharply for men than for women between 1946 and 1947.

NEW YORK STOCKS

NEW YORK, May 15.—(AP)—The heaviest buying in years swamped the stock market today and put leaders up fractions to 2 or more points at new highs since 1946.

The high speed ticker tape was as much as 13 minutes behind actual floor transactions during a long part of the short session, a record since the boom days of 1929.

Volume was so huge that the stock Exchange was compelled to print "flash" quotations from the start. Transfers for the two hours of around 3,000,000 shares were the largest for any Saturday since 1933. They compared with 640,000 a week ago. Blocks running to 21,000 shares were numerous.

Bonds were steady but not buoyant like stocks. Major commodities improved.

ADJOURNMENT

sident Truman on many legisla- questions and fear that he might bills, which left until next year, ld secure the signature of a GOP f Executive.

pical case in point is the recip- l trade agreements act, which ex- s June 12 unless Congress votes xtension bill. The act was adopted y in the Roosevelt administration represents generally the tariff vs of the Democratic party.

epublicans, however, would like to e some changes on the act and re tariff policy of the nation. y realize, however, that any meas- substantially revising the law ld be voted by Truman, and it is btful that enough votes could be red to pass it over such a veto. a result, the act will either be al- d to die or merely extended "as until next year. Then, in the ion of the Republican leaders, will have a sympathetic president will agree to the revision.

e uncertainty of future world ditions, coupled with the continued at of war with Russia, is also a ng factor in the delays planned for e legislation. Bills providing for lic works, for instance, will be de- d until a final determination is hed on the extent of the nation's defense program. The planned eral revision of the tax laws will be put over until next year since leaders hope by that time a better re of the nation's fiscal affairs be available. Lone-range farm slation will also be delayed for lar reasons. The future demand farm products, both here and oad, is still extremely uncertain it is felt that to attempt to adopt ermanent farm program at this e would be difficult, if not futile.

ther measures will be postponed strictly political reasons. With ry member of the House and htly more than one-third of the ators facing re-election next Nov- er, both GOP and Democratic ers in Congress are reluctant to their members on the "spot" on sures which are highly contro- ial and pack political dynamite. ext winter, with elections nearly years away, it will be easier for bers to vote on some of the her bills, they feel. The coming tions will likewise give some indi- on of how the nation as a whole s upon some domestic and inter- national questions and could play an ortant part in the final vote in gress.

igh up on the casualty list will be major measures which President man included in his civil rights gram submitted to Congress ugh Republican leaders, for politi- reasons, will make an effort to a vote on one of the bills, none of m are likely to be passed at this ion. With the short time remain- it would require only a comparat- ly brief filibuster to kill any of proposed bills, including the anti- tax, anti-lynching and permanent Employment Practices commis- measures.

epublican leaders, however, are -guarding their delaying program extending temporarily any im- tant measures or agencies of the ernment for one or two years. y do not want to be in a position actually killing them just prior an election. But the short exten- s given such agencies as the Re- struction Finance Corporation, Commodity Credit Corporation, Housing Expediter, and others, permit a review of these govern- t operations if a Republican sident is elected next November.

REDS

of conscripts were let go after World War II. He added:

"Demobilization was on a systematic and selective basis, with basic infantrymen quickly released while technicians and armored force troops were retained. The result gave the Soviet Union an army with special skill in armored warfare.

"The Red Army maintained a professional cadre (framework) of approximately 2,000,000 officers and men. In addition, 800,000 to 1,000,000 men were being conscripted into the army each year for a two year period of service after which they reverted into the reserve. But this method the Soviet Union was building up a trained reserve which by 1955 would amount to 15,000,000-20,000,000 men."

The United States—listed as "the only major power without peacetime conscription"—saw its army drop to "the equivalent of 13 divisions and 670,000 men," said the general.

He added:

"All the major powers showed concern with the development of land forces transportable by air. This conception was combined with an emphasis on armored striking forces of high speed and considerable firepower designed for quick break-through thrusts. In most armies the infantry diviison was strengthened by the addition of component armored units as well as organic anti-aircraft units."

The article also disclosed that:

The bulk of the troops of most land powers was on duty outside the home land. For this reason Great Britain, France and the U. S. had to suspend normal training activities.

Only Russia, with 2,000,000 ground force men within its borders, was able to operate an effective training system. The Soviet Union's military manpower outside the U. S. S. R. was spread out this way:

"From 1,000,000 to 1,500,000 troops were engaged in occupation duties in Eastern Germany, Poland, Romania, Bulgaria, Austria and Hungary. Another 250,000 were on duty in northern Korea.

"Instructional groups remained in Yugoslavia and many officers in Polish uniforms were in reality Russians. Hundreds of thousands of discharged soldiers put on civilian clothes and became part of the civilian communities of Satellite countries."

China's armies were sized up like this: approximately 3,500,000 men—about half of them combat effectives—on the Central government side, and a "fluctuating force" of 1,500,000 to 2,000,000 in the Communist fold.

In his report on the Soviet Union's spending, Gen. Sibert wrote:

"The Soviet Union spent more than $1,225,000,000 in 1947 on military research. An additional $9,000,000,000 to $10,000,000,000 was spent on new equipment. A considerable proportion of the allotment to research was spent on atom bomb development."

He did not specify the nature of the "new equipment," but said the German scientists worked on guided missiles, tanks and aircraft.

six weeks' pay, too. They may not be anxious to strike again soon.

Lewis has until June 30 to make a bituminous coal contract, and until July 10 to close a deal with the anthracite industry. The former covers about 400,000 soft coal diggers; the latter about 80,000 eastern Pennsylvania hard coal workers.

The Bituminous Coal Operators' bargaining committee began meetings today at the Shoreham hotel, in preparation for the negotiations starting there Tuesday. Lewis or UMW Vice-president Thomas Kennedy will open talks with the anthracite operators in Philadelphia Thursday.

Lewis has called his 200-member policy committee into session Monday. They will discuss contract startegy and the proposals of district scale committees.

These proposals include boosting the health and welfare royalty from 10 cents to 40 cents a ton—to meet the operators' argument that Lewis' pension demands would cost that much. Some district groups also suggested a $250 vacation payment and return to the 35-hour week, without loss of pay.

The basic week in the current contract is 40 hours. The miners work only 6 1/2 hours a day and receive $13.05 as the basic rate. The other hour and a half goes for underground travel and meals, but it's paid for just as though they were wielding a shovel, blasting, or running a motor.

The Lewis pension demand was for $100 a month for any UMW members over 60 who had worked 20 years in the mines. He agreed to end the strike with a compromise of $100 a month for UMW members 62 years old who retired after May 29, 1946, date of the Krug-Lewis agreement which established the first health and welfare fund. Whether he will settle for that in a new contract remains to be seen.

JAYCEES MAKING FINAL PLANS FOR SECOND WATER CARNIVAL

The steering committee of the Monroe Junior Chamber of Commerce had its fourth meeting this year, and the promoting and planning of the second annual Louisiana Water Carnival is to be much larger than last year.

The Water Carnival is to be a two-day affair being held on Saturday and Sunday, June 26 and 27.

Chairman John Salisbury has stressed that this carnival is being put on for the entire population of Northeast Louisiana. The Jaycees are doing every thing possible to bring clean entertainment and enjoyment for everyone in Northeast Louisiana.

The Water Carnival will get under way at approximately 10:00 a.m. Saturday, June 26. The first event will be a parade through the Twin Cities followed by a contest put on by the fire fighters and other special events which follow into the afternoon, and then the main event of Saturday afternoon will be the swimming meet that is to be held in the Monroe Natitorium. On Saturday night the queen, yet to be chosen, will be crowned at the Water Carnival dance which is to be held on the roof of the Virginia Hotel and open to the public.

On Sunday afternoon at 1:00 o'clock the main event of the Water Carnival will begin. There are to be more racers who are members of the Southwestern Boat Racing Association here than there were last year. These men will all be "top notch" contestants and the world's champion, "Peanut" Mayhew, will again be here this year to defend his title.

CLAIMS

a wage boost but couldn't back up their demands with a strike because of the no-strike clause in their two-year contract.

"The electrical workers couldn't ask for a wage increase because the officials of that C. I. O. union have refused to sign non-Communist affidavits under the Taft-Hartley law.

"Victory in the Chrysler strike will get nearly all workers a wage boost without a strike."

Chrysler workers struck in support of a 30-cent hourly wage boost, "and we're determined to get it," Mazey declared.

Mazey said Reuther, his body in a cast from the waist up, will leave his Detroit hospital bed Sunday. The red-haired president will not be troubled with the union's problems until he recovers.

Returning to the Chrysler strike, Mazey said flatly "I don't think it will last as long as the 113-day General Motors strike of 1946.

"I doubt if Chrysler will want to keep losing the big profits which we estimate at about $1,000,000 daily.

"Besides, in the G. M. strike return to work was delayed by the necessity of retooling and the shortage of steel."

The quiet-spoken collector of the dues of a near million U. A. W. members noted that a strike of General Motors employes has been set for May 28. The union seeks a pay boost of 45 cents an hour.

"General Motors could grant its employes a 50-cent hourly boost, reduce the price of cars by $130 each and still show a six per cent profit on its investment," Mazey said.

"Chrysler, too, can meet the U. A. W. demand of 30 cents an hour, show an annual $40,000,000 profit and not raise prices."

4 CHILDREN

piration continued until 7 p. m. on the other two.

Answering the call with emergency equipment were firemen from Monroe and Ruston.

Monroe firemen rendering aid were: Capt. T. J. Dupree, Capt. M. M. Smith, and firemen F. E. Wilhite and Bobby Hawthorne.

A native of Eros and resident of Jonesboro for the past three years, Oglesbee is employed as bus driver for Jack's Bus Lines and operates between Monroe and Jonesboro.

He was notified of the drowning when he arrived in the West Monroe bus terminal a few hours after the tragedy.

The pond in which the four children drowned was described as being only 5 feet deep, approximately 60 feet wide and 80 feet long.

An inquest will not be necessary, Coroner Blume stated, because there was no evidence of foul play connected with the drownings.

Besides their parents, the four children are survived by four sisters: Wendal, 17, Ruth, 15, Betty Joyce, 6, and Catherine, 3.

The time and place of funeral arrangements were incomplete late last night.

BOY SCOUT

school classes that had more than 100 students. Y. M. C. A. directors decided it was financially impossible at the time to rebuild. The young secretary obtained their consent to manage reconstruction if it could be done without expense. He went around to visit contractors and teachers with a proposal they postpone payment for their services until a reopened school could meet their bills.

They agreed and the school was rebuilt and soon had an increased enrollment which gradually paid off its debts.

Dr. West won a bachelor's and then a master's degree at National University in Washington. President Theodore Roosevelt, who later became his staunch friend through their common interest in welfare work for youth, appointed him a member of the board of pension appeals and later an assistant attorney in the department of the interior.

The crutches had been flung away when West learned that they handicapped his applications for the work he had to have to support him while he studied.

He was instrumental in having a juvenile court and many playgrounds established in the capital, and he organized the National Child Rescue League which placed thousands of homeless children in childless homes.

When in 1910 a group of men set about the business of founding a national Boy Scout organization, they went to West as a likely candidate for its leadership because he had become identified by that time with many youth welfare agencies and had been chairman of a White House conference on care of dependent children.

At the suggestion of the Scout sponsors, he gave up his legal practice and became chief Scout executive. For more than a quarter of a century he had the key post in handling the multiplied problems of an organization which eventually touched more than 1,500,000 men and boys and involved wide civic connections in addition to direction of between 700 and 1,000 professional leaders.

As Scout executive, he also became editor of Boy's Life, official Scout magazine. He wrote several books for boys, and many pamphlets.

In 1926 the Scouts awarded him the silver buffalo "for distinguished service to boyhood" and British Scouts honored him with their silver wolf award.

He married Marion Speaks of Washington, on June 19, 1907. They had four children, Arthur, Marion, Helen and Robert. His home for many years was in New Rochelle, N. Y.

of the House accepting a substitute training plan now pending in the Senate. It calls, in addition to the draft, for one-year training of 161,000 18-year olds and was developed as a substitute for universal military training (UMT).

"This is totally unacceptable," Martin said, adding that even if the Senate approves there is no possibility of compromise by the House on this.

The proposal before the Senate committee also was condemned by the national legislative committee of the veterans of foreign wars.

J. R. Klawans of San Francisco, chairman of the VFW committee, said the plan is really "no more than two shades of selective selvice."

His organization has strongly backed UMT.

GUARDS

one purpose—to preserve law and order and prevent anarchy.

"You people haven't got the public on the side of violence," the governor said, adding "keep your shirts on—keep your feet on the ground. You cannot win a strike by anarchy."

The governor told the group he had called out the guard in the CIO United Packing House Workers strike at South St. Paul and neighboring Newport as a "last resort."

The group applauded the governor when he finished.

Then one woman in the group, Jean Paddock, a Swift & Company worker shouted:

"If you shut the plants down, there won't be any violence. We don't like to have our people in jail and we don't like to have them beat up either."

A request by the governor that the delegation leave the capitol and its grounds quietly was obeyed. The crowd dwindled away in a few minutes.

Prior to the state capitol session National guardsmen carrying out orders of their officers, cleared South St. Paul streets of all gatherings. The order came after numerous scuffles at the entrance of the strikebound Swift plant when workers were driven into the plant.

Milton Siegel, St. Paul, field representative of the Packing House Workers' Union, led the march on the state capitol. Siegel said "use of the national guard to break the strike is a disgrace to the state of Minnesota."

"When uniformed troops push citizens around with bayonets as was done this morning, then you have military rule whether the governor calls it that or not."

Siegel's statement came after 600 guardsmen, bayonets fixed, swept down streets near the Swift and Company entrance, dispersing the crowd. A National Guard proclamation read to the gathering said assembly of more than four persons would be considered unlawful.

Two weapons carriers, each mounting four 50 caliber machine guns and carrying eight troopers armed with Carbines, meanwhile patrolled South St. Paul streets.

Scuffling that preceded the National Guard edict was done amid a chorus of curses, boos and catcalls as the crowd, attempted to surge forward toward the workers' automobiles. The attempted seizure of a guardsman's rifle brought a Captain and several soldiers into swift action.

It was the first time since Wednesday that anyone had entered the Swift plant. Pickets, massed in defiance of a court order limiting the number to 10, had halted workers, cattle trucks and local police who attempted to open the lines.

An expected call for guardsmen to Albert Lea, Minn., 100 miles south of here, failed to materialize. Pickets blocked the entrance of the Wilson packing plant there Friday and showered police officers with eggs.

Hjalmer Wulff, sheriff at Albert Lea, refused to sign a request for national guard aid, saying he would ask for militia help when he "couldn't figure out any other way" to handle the situation. A delegation of Albert Lea city officials asked the Governor for military assistance.

The St. Paul Union Stockyards Company said today that unrestricted shipments of cattle and calves would be accepted here Monday, the first since the strike began March 16. Consignees were advised to make advance arrangements with commission houses.

and Mrs. Larcade (D-LA); and Bruce Tucker, administrative assistant to Senator Overton.

A committee of Alexandrians will meet the delegation at the train. The body will lie in state in the Overton residence (1128 Eighth Street), until the Monday funeral services.

Warren Graham, chairman of the retail merchants division of the chamber of commence, announced that local retail stores will close from noon until 2 p. m. Monday, to allow employes to attend the funeral services.

Other Louisiana Congressmen and members of a Congressional delegation named by the presiding officers of the House and Senate in Washington were leaving tonight by train to attend the funeral.

Relatives in Alexandria said selection of pallbearers and other details of the funeral plans would await the arrival of Mrs. Overton.

Expression of condolence continued today from colleagues and other associates of Senator Overton during his long years of public service.

Overton was elected to the Senate in 1931 after serving as Eighth District Representative in the House. Governor Earl K. Long, brother of the late Huey Long, is expected to name an interim successor, who will serve until the election of a Senator in November to serve out the unfinished term. The term runs until January, 1951.

M. P. BOOSTERS PLAN LARGEST CIVIC EVENT

Missouri Pacific Boosters meet at Ouachita Parish high school auditorium Friday, at 7:30 p. m. Chief Booster E. A. Porter, Jr., advises the doors will open at 7 p. m. The program will start at 7:30 p. m. sharp. He expects a large attendance to be present, as he says this will be one of the largest Civic events of the year.

The meeting is in connection with Mr. Porter's "Meet Your Business Partner." campaign inaugurated several months ago.

The program is similar to the "Pot of Gold" radio program, that is, the name of the business partner invited to the meeting is selected at random by drawing from the classified add section of the local telephone book. The merchants selected are invited to be present and meet Missouri Pacific employees and the public.

Mr. Porter announces there will be Door Prizes and no admission is to be charged. Everything is free.

A motion picture entitled Main Line U. S. A. will be shown, and Mrs. Estelle Schulze Sanders will present several musical numbers by her students. Les Winslow and his Cavaliers will furnish music.

Bob Huston, associated Press photographer, and I flew over the suspect area for an hour and a half today. The sea was calm. Visibility was good. But from the beach to a point 50 miles at sea there was no sign to indicate a vessel had gone to the bottom.

We looked for an oil slick, or floating debris, but the sea was clean.

The coast guard called off its search at about noon.

In San Francisco a coast guard officer said, when asked about the possibility that the radio message was sent as a hoax, "It's always possible."

ISRAEL

newspaper said Gaza was occuped by the Egyptians.

Egyptian fighter planes and bombers hit what a communique said was a military airport in Tel Aviv and two other Jewish settlements. Haganah, the Jewish army, said Tel Aviv was attacked three times during the day with bombs falling near the airport and power station. Haganah said one plane was downed and its Egyptian pilot taken prisoner.

Haganah said also Lebanese army troops were counter-attacking at Malikya, a village a mile inside the northern frontier of fledging Israel as defined by the United Nations decision on partition. The Lebanese said Malikya had fallen.

Associated Press Correspondent Daniel De Luce said an armored car column of King Abdullah's Trans-Jordan Arab Legion occupied Jericho, 20 miles northeast of Jerusalem. Long convoys of infantry, artillery and light armor took up positions over a broad area in the Judean hills in Arab-populated territory, De Luce said.

Farther north advance patrols of the Syrian army moved in south of Galilee, a dispatch from A. P. Correspondent Joseph C. Goodwin in Damascus said. This is also in territory claimed by Israel.

Haganah said the Egyptian army had speared into the Negeb, the southern desert, ad attacked the settlement of Nirim and Kafar Darom, both outside the defined territory of Israel.

Haganah said also that the Arab Legion had shelled four Jewish settlements on the Jordan Valley frontier. Planes attacked settlements in the Samakh district on the southeastern shore of Galilee, Haganah added.

Haganah was not idle in its preparations for Arab invasion of Israel. Acre was reported to have surrendered to Haganah fighters, who drove north along the coast and occupied Ras En Naqura, right at the Lebanese frontier.

In Jerusalem Haganah said its men were taking over British installations as fast as the British departed. The British said their evacuation of Jerusalem was complete.

At Haifa Israel received its first immigrants since becoming a state—300 Europeans who sailed from Genoa.

(By Associated Press)

Arab league nations opposing the new Zionist state of Israel claim to have armies with a combined strength of 170,000 men—almost two and a half times as many as the Jews now have under arms.

However, most middle east observers believe the Jews are in a position to use their entire military force while the Arab countries are not.

In some capitals of the Arab states there are rumors of rivalries between the leaders of the various countries. Large portions of the Arab armies are needed for policing duties at home.

The Jewish agency says Haganah, the army of Israel, has a fighting force of 60,000 to 70,000. The Jews also expect Haganah to be reinforced in time by the arrival of young Jews from the displaced persons camps of Europe.

Unofficial Arab sources have given the following summary of Arab strength in regular armed forces:

Egypt—100,000 troops with some units mechanized; a small air force.

Trans-Jordan—10,000 to 15,000 men in the Arab Legion.

Iraq—40,000 troops poorly mechanized but with some airpower.

Syria—15,000 troops with some mobile units.

Lebanon—5,000 soldiers partly mechanized.

Saudi Arabia—Only a small "palace army."

WASHINGTON, May 15.—(AP)—Some congressional voices were raised today for ending the embargo on shipment of arms to the middle east, to help the new Jewish state of Israel.

Lawmakers continued to give generally favorable reception to President Truman's recognition of the one-day-old state, now under Arab attack.

Senator Taft (R.-Ohio) told reporters he will take part in a rally Sunday night in New York's Madison Square Garden to celebrate the founding of the state.

He recalled that he long ago had urged recognition of the Jewish state, and also urged that the U. S. join in forming an international police force, through the United Nations, to maintain order in the middle east.

Taft hopes to be the Republican opponent of President Truman in the November election. Another GOP presidential possibility, Senator Vandenberg (R.-Mich.) has called recognition "logical and proper."

Senator Chavez (D.-N.M.), Edwin C. Johnson (D.-Colo.) and Smith (R.-N.J.) all came out for lifting of arms embargo. President Truman was reported at the White House to have this under study.

Chavez would lift it for the benefit of the Jews alone, he emphasized. "Let the others get arms from England," he suggested.

Johnson called the embargo on arms for Jews "a damn disgrace." Smith reported through his office that he favors lifting it. He said U. S. recognition of Israel "is the correct procedure."

Rep. Vorys (R.-Ohio) offered a note of caution. He said:

"We must not take sides in a holy war. I introduced a provision for furnishing arms to foreign countries in Congress this spring, with the hope that our country would decide on an overall arms policy for South America, Europe and anywhere else.

"I think we should decide on a policy based on a consistent principle, and that principle must not involve taking sides in a holy war."

Senator Hatch (D.-N.M.) commented:

"It was a wise thing for our government to recognize the new state. I hope it's the first step towards bringing some peace to that disturbed area."

MARSHALL

of world trade," the secretary said.

A one-year extension bill with limitation on President Truman's power to cut tariffs, is expected to reach the House floor for debate next week. Mr. Truman and Secretary Marshall have asked that Congress preserve the government's present freedom to negotiate tariff changes.

"A retreat to the practices of economic nationalism could drive the world into another resort to economic warfare that would prove fatal to peace," Marshall's statement said.

"The future of mankind will depend to an important degree on how well society is able to satisfy the basic requirements of the people of the earth for food, shelter and the other necessities of life," he went on.

"The fullest possible development of world trade, with a minimum of restrictions and a maximum of opportunity for all, is necessary."

Senator Taft gave his position on the trade act to reporters. He said he does "not favor the three-year extension."

The law now gives the President too much authority to raise or lower tariffs, said Taft, a candidiate for the GOP presidential nomination.

He said he would prefer to revise the tariff system so that Congress would "set standards" and a commission would have power to adjust tariffs within those boundries.

"But that would take some time, so I will go along with a one-year extension," he said. Taft added that he has not studied the restrictions in the house proposal and is not passing judgent on them at this time.

PREAKNESS JUST EASY GALLOP FOR CITATION

VULCAN'S FORGE 6 LENGTHS BACK IN SECOND PLACE

Calumet Star Jumps To 6th Place Among World's Top Money Winners

By John Chandler

PIMLICO RACE TRACK, Md., May 15.—(AP)—Citation went to work on an "off" track today and the great Calumet farm express came through on time and in front all the way to whip easily three rivals in the 72nd running of The Preakness Stakes.

A cheering crowd of 32,244 persons made the fleet bay son of Bull Lea-Hydroplane 2nd the shortest priced horse in Preakness history, and Citation ran as true to form as he ever did in his brilliant three-year-old career.

Furthermore, he picked up $91,870, and shot his total earnings to $423,700. This makes him up to sixth in the list of world money winning horses. Because Faultless won the Gallant Fox Handicap at Jamaica and Fervent was second, Calumet farm had the biggest money day of any single stable in racing's history.

Citation trimmed his closest rival, C. V. Whitney's Vulcan's Forge by six lengths, with Sylvester W. Labrot's Bovard third another four lengths away. Fourth and last in the skimpiest field since Count Fleet won the Pimlico classic in 1943, was King Ranch's Better Self, a half length back of Bovard.

Jockey Eddie Arcaro, who now has accounted for two Preaknesses, was jubilant as he came to the winner's circle after piloting Citation around the mile and three sixteenths distance.

"He won this race easier than he did the Kentucky Derby," Eddie said. The little Italian riding star said he tapped Citation just twice, once at the head of the stretch and then midway down the stretch run "because he's inclined to loaf a little."

Citation paid his many backers only $2.20, smallest price that could be returned. Maryland law requires payment of at least 10 cents on the dollar, and there was win betting only. Count Fleet paid $2.30 in the 1943 four-horse race.

The race was run over a track termed "heavy" due to a two-day rain ending last night, and the Calumet flyer ran the slowest Preakness since its distance was changed to a mile and three sixteenths in 1925. Time today was 2:02 2/5, compared with the previous poorest time of 2:02 by Head Play in 1933.

While Citation was cashing in the chips for Calumet here, 200 miles north in New York City, two other Warren Wright collectors were taking care of the Gallant Fox Handicap. The team-work made it the most profitable day of all time for any stable.

Calumet's coffers were enriched by $167,170 for the afternoon's labors, since Faultless hauled down $60,300 by winning the Gallant Fox, and his stablemate, Fervent, grabbed another $15,000 for second place.

With two down, and one to go in the chase for racing's triple crown, everybody wondered who might take a shot at the three-year-old champ next. Jones said the next stop for Citation would be Belmont and the mile and one half Belmont Stakes four weeks from today.

Monroe District Golfers Will Meet Lake Charles Today

Sports Trail

By Whitney Martin

NEW YORK, May 14.—(AP)—Should Joe McCarthy finish second with his Boston Red Sox this year he will be doing as well as he did in his first year as ew York Yankee pilot, and he had some pretty fair ball players to work with at that time, too.

Joe Cronin, who moved up to the plush department of the Red Sox and made room for McCarthy in the grass and dirt department, bequeathed what everyone believed was a pretty sound ball club to his successor, and bought him a couple more new toys in the persons of Vernon Stephens and stan Spence for good measure.

It is a fairly sound club, but not as sound as a lot of folks believe. The pitching could be much, much better, for one thing, and without good pitching no club is sound.

Sure, he came to Boston to find such players as Ted Williams, and Bobby Doerr, and Dom DiMaggio awaiting him. Fine players, and in Williams case perhaps the best in the business right now.

But compare the Red Sox lineup with that of the Yankees of 1931, McCarthy's first year with the club. He had such gentle hitters as Babe Ruth, Lou Gehrig, Earle Combs, Tony Lazzeri, Bill Dickey, Ben Chapman and Joe Sewell.

And to keep the other teams from doing too much damage he had such pitchers as Red Ruffing, George Pipgras, Wilcy Moore and Herb Pennock.

Yet that club could finish only second!

If, with a Red Sox team which obviously lacks the all-around power of those 1931 Yankees, and whose pitching can be classed as no better than uncertain, he can finish second this year it might be termed at least a moral victory for him. If Red Sox fans can get any consolation from it it might be pointed out McCarthy won the pennant his second year with New York.

We were among quite a few citizens who picked the Red Sox to win this year, and although we're getting a little apprehensive and biting our nails from time to time, we still think they can do it.

The apprehension is caused by the disintigration of the pitching staff to a point where, when they list probable Boston pitchers, they mean just that. The failure of Tex Hughson to recover from his operations was the greatest blow.

The team still packs punch with William Doerr, Spence and Stephens in the lineup, and with even fair pitching should win more than its share of games.

The fielding also is adequate. Dom DiMaggio is just about as good a centerfielder as his brother Joe. Ted Williams is perhaps the most underrated of outfielders today. The long guy really goes and gets them, and is pegging the ball with astonishing accuracy.

Doerr and Stephens make a fine second-base combination. Johnny Pesky is new at third base, but he is learning. Spence can play either first base or right field capably, and Birdie Tebbetts is an experienced and peppery catcher.

That leaves it strictly up to the pitching, and that's where the Red Sox fate rests. Capable as he is, McCarthy can't find a substitute for good mound performance.

But, as mentioned, finished only second with a better team in his first year with the Yankees, so maybe we're expecting too much from him this year.

MIKE JOHN ADDS SPORTS FLAVOR TO SCHOOL BOARD

It isn't very day that you find an athlete on anybody's school board, but when Mike John Jr., young Monroe businessman won a seat on the Monroe city school board in Tuesday's democratic primary here, the city school board became one that can boast of a sports-minded member with actual athletic experience.

Mike, who graduated with the last class of the old Monroe City high school in 1931, played baseball and basketball in high school and went on to Louisiana State University where he also was a member of the Bayou Bengals' baseball club.

John, at L. S. U., was a teammate of Nathan "Buddy" Blair, present manager of the Vicksburg Billies of the Southeastern League who was formerly with Connie Mack's Philadelphia Athletics. John, a new member, serves on a school board that includes incumbents Courtney Oliver, Roland Lee Davis, and Warren Taylor.

Tuesday

"Rec" field—Southern Bell girls 6 p. m.

Missouri Pacific—Gay Clothing vs. Smith's Store of El Dorado, Ark., 8 p. m.

Who's on First?

Red Sox' pitcher Jack Kramer (18) was taking no chances of White Sox' Tony Lupien (3) running out a hit to first base as Boston's first baseman Jake Jones fell to the ground in attempting to put Lupien out. Kramer's all-out try wasn't needed, however, as Jones made the out unassisted, and helped the Red Sox blank Chicago, 8-0.

GREEN BAY, Wis., May 15.—(UEA)—The honeymoon is over for professional football players.

That is the word of Curley Lambeau, one of the pioneers of the sport who has been directing the destinies of the Green Bay Packers for 30 years.

Curley Lambeau

Forecasting a stabilization of salaries, based on sound business procedure and the law of supply and demand, the former Notre Dame fullback and National League star spoke in behalf of the

"The honeymoon is over," said the Packer chief. "There is plenty of tallent for all teams. Several years ago it was different. The players had the owners on the spot and they took advantage of it. But today it is no trick to sign 100 men.

Declaring that only four and possibly five teams in two leagues broke even or better last year, Lambeau fixed the losses of the 13 others in the millions.

"But the players all got paid," he said. "They make all the money in pro football today. And they are turning down contracts for four months' work that call for more money than a competent executive—not to mention some of the top coaches of the country—can earn in the entire year."

Recalling that Don Hutson of the Packers and Bronko Nagurski of the Chicago Bears, two of the all-time greats of the sport, started for $175 a game, Lambeau found ample ground for statistical comparisons in present-day prices.

"Since 1939, living costs have gone up 100 per cent and the national wage scale has increased 89 per cent," he said. "But professional football salaries have increased nearly 400 per cent and in some cases many times more in the last 10 years.

"Club executives took cuts or held the line to weather the financial storm in pro football, but the players' salaries continued to skyrocket. Clubs and club owners no longer can stand the strain."

One of the prime reasons for the tremendous increase in players' salaries was the all-out drive for pro gridders between the two leagues when the All-America Conference was organized in 1946.

And, too, the National League's refusal to accept the All-America circuit and work out a professional football World Series continued the expensive bids for the better players with higher salaries.

Approaching the salary problem impartially from a business standpoint, Lambeau, one of the more accomplished and experienced administrators in the game, said he did not anticipate any drastic cut in salaries, but they would be leveling off to where clubs stood a fair chance of at least breaking even on a year's operation.

"Men along in years, almost ready to retire, have put their savings into professional football and gone broke. But the players got theirs. The present situation is too cockeyed to be sound. Readjustment is imperative and inevitable," he continued.

Lambeau's observations followed a contract conference with Tony Canadeo, Packer veteran and one of the higher salaried halfbacks of football. Canadeo walked out of the conference, becoming the Packers' first holdout.

Commenting on Canadeo's action, the veteran coach said, "We'd like to have Tony with us, but we'll be okay at left half if he isn't. It has always been and always will be our policy to pay players as much as possible. Our aim is to give Packer fans a good football team.

"Last season we did a little better than break even, but it was accomplished by cutting operating expenses, not salaries.

"Moreover, our profit on the year's operation wasn't as much as the increase some of the players are asking.

"The only raise we are giving are to a couple of men who made less than $5000 last year, and whose play certainly warranted an increase."

CALHOUN MIDGETS TROUNCE MONROE

The undefeated Calhoun Midgets, team of boys 13 years old and under, handed the Monroe Braves, local pee wee team, its first defeat here yestrday, 18 to 14. Although Calhoun got only ten hits, 16 bases on balls and eight Monroe errors helped the visitors' cause along.

The Monroe midgets collected 15 hits, including two home runs by Bass and a circuit clout by Leos.

Late Rally Wins 13th S. E. C. Track Title For L. S. U.

Athletics' Million-Dollar Mound Staff Cost Mr. Mack Just $37,000

By Harry Grayson

NEW YORK—(NEA)—Bill Veeck of the Indians says he will pay $200,000 for a starting pitcher.

Pitchers figured prominently in the $500,000 Dick Muckerman collected during the winter for the eighth-place stars of the Browns.

EDDIE JOOST

Yet the Athletics' staff, perhaps the slickest in the game, cost Mr. Cornelius McGillicuddy exactly $37,000.

Included in that tremendous outlay was $12,000 for young Alex Kellner, called in from Birmingham and as yet untried, $10,000 each for the great Phil Marchildon and Dick Fowler, obtained from Toronto, where Mr. Connie Mack had the pick of the club, and $5000 for the 33-year-old relief worker Bubba Harris, bought last September from Lincoln of the Western League.

FERRIS FAIN

Competent baseball men say the Philadelphia American League staff would easily bring $1,000,000 on the open market.

It's really too bad for Mr. Mack that he isn't selling these days. As it was, he let Cleveland have Russ Christopher for $25,000, with the knowledge that ,because of a heart ailment, this was the tall fireman's last year.

Old-timers tip off Mr. Mack to talent.

Lou Brissie, the left-hander with the War-torn leg, was plucked out of Presbyterian College, Clinton, S. C. The father of this new edition of Mose Grove wanted him to pitch for Mr. Mack.

Carl Scheib, a potential righthanded Babe Ruth and only 21, ankled into Shibe Park from Gratz, Pr., one afternoon. It is to be trusted that he took a trolley part way.

Brother Gilbert, who turned Ruth over to Jack Dunn of the Baltimore Orioles, discovered Joe Coleman in Massachusetts.

Bob Savage came direct from Saunton Military Academy in Virginia, suh.

No-hit Bill McCahan, who speaks as well as he pitches, was lassoed on the Philadelphia sandlots.

Bullfrog Dietrich, who broke in with Mr. Mack, returned to him as a free agent.

This excellent crops of pitchers gives the amazing A's the early foot of Coaltown.

They are taking a squad of castoffs a long way.

They had turned in seven complete games in the winning streak of 10 with which they swept into Yankee Stadium, had 11 complete games in the first 19 to lead both leagues in that highly important department.

Eddie Joost, drafted from Rochester, is currently sparking the A's. The former Red and Brave came into New York with a consecutive game batting streak of 17, and having hit safely in 18 or 19. The bespectacled Joost's 11 runs-batted-in was remarkable for a lead-off man.

Umpire George Magerkurth called Joost the most graceful shortstop in the game.

Sam Chapman, sent to Mr. Mack from the Califoria campus by Tyrus Raymond Cobb, has started to hit, and when Ferris Fain, drafted from San Francisco, gets rolling the A's really will stir up trouble.

Mr. Mack pays first baseman Fain a grand compliment comparing him with Eddie Collins. "He's a fighting ballplayer like Eddie," says the Tall Tactician. "He's out to beat the other fellow."

In an over-all picture, the A's may be slow, but they certainly aren't wearing hobbles in the early going.

YELLOW JACKETS, MEET FAVORITES, END IN 4TH PLACE

Auburn Comes Through Surprise 2nd; Tulane Finishes 3rd

BIRMINGHAM, May 15.—(AP)—Louisiana State scored heavily in the closing events today to win the Southeastern Conference track championship for the 13th time in 16 years.

The victors nosed out the Auburn Tigers, 41 points to 36½. Tulane was in third place with 35. Georgia Tech, a pre-meet favorite, was fourth with 31.

L.S.U. was never in the lead until the Tigers took the mile relay event, 14th on the program. In the pole vault, last to finish, the victors added 5½ points to Auburn's 1½.

Roland Knecht of the winners broke the conference record in the high jump, clearing the bar at 6 feet, 5⅞ inches. The old mark was set by Kelly Hern of Alabama in 1939 at 6 feet, 5½ inches.

Auburn jumped into the lead in the first event, when Fred Carley and Whitey Overton finished in that order in the mile run. It was Carley's third successive victory in the event.

The Plainsmen held that advantage until the 12th event, the low hurdles. Here, Tulane's Frank Burge and Hugh Liles, put the Greenies in the lead by running one-two. Auburn's Jack Demedicis, a strong contender, fell in that race and failed to finish.

Paul Bienz of Tulane was high point man for the day. He scored a total of 10 in the 100 and 220 yard dashes, winning in 9.6 and 20.7 seconds without being pushed. He gave Tulane a lead in the first leg of the mile relay, but his mates could not keep up.

Six champions repeated today. In addition to Carley, Auburn's Joe Pennington won the high hurdlers and Whitey Overton of the same team was an easy winner in the two mile run.

Tom Dickey of L.S.U. took the 440 in 48.4 seconds. Herb Graves of L.S.U. took the discus again and George Hills of Florida won the shot put.

L.S.U.'s Bobby Lowther put the eventual victors back in good position in the javelin when he improved his standing in that event with a throw of 195 feet, 5¼ inches for five important points. Had he failed to improve on yesterday's mark, of 178 feet, 6½ inches, his team would have been beaten, 38½ to 36 by Auburn.

Lowther also scored important points in the pole vault. He tied for third, therefore a point and a half. In that event last year, Bobby broke a leg when he fell against a light post.

After the first four, the points were:

FAULTLESS AND FERVENT HAS ONE-TWO PUNCH FOR GALLANT FOX HANDICAP

NEW YORK, May 15.—(AP)—Warren Wright's double-F team of Faultless and Fervent fashioned a favorite Calumet feat today when they finished in that order in the $87,400 Gallant Fox Handicap before a closing day race crowd of 43,854 at Jamaica.

The two colts completed the mile and three-sixteenths journey of Jamaica's richest race noses apart. A scant half length behind, W. L. Brann's gallant mare, Gallorette, was third.

Mrs. Ethel D. Jacobs' world record money gleaner, seven-year-old Stymie, was favorite over the Calumet pair but wound up fifth in the field of 10.

SEMI-PRO CLUB MAPPING PLANS FOR PLAY HERE

Monroe All-Stars Will Resume Workouts At Casino Tomorrow

The Monroe All-Stars, semi-pro baseball club which got into a couple of battles with Max Lanier's former major league All-Stars here recently, have launched plans for a summer campaign with other semi-pro outfits of this section.

The All-Stars' organization has been setup as a "non-profit" organization with recreation as its foremost purpose, and practice sessions will be resumed tomorrow afternoon at 5 o'clock at Casino Park.

Any talent desiring to play with the All-Stars is invited to report for the drills under the supervision of Coaches Bob Harmon and Pete Medak who said consideration would be given all players seeking positions with the club.

"Positions are wide open, and the best player for each position will be the choice to travel with the club," Coach Medak said last night.

Medak also reported that 17 uniforms are being supplied by 17 sponsoring merchants, that all equipment has been bought and paid for, and booking of games for the summer campaign is now in progress.

Nick Bruscato is serving as booking agent for the club whose officers, in an advisory capacity, include George Lofton, president; Albert Tribeaux, vice president; and Ed W. Lockhart, secretary and treasurer.

PALMER LEADING INQUIRER EVENT BY LONE STROKE

Bobby Locke Trailing In Second Place At Halfway Mark

By Harold Classen

PHILADELPHIA, May 15.—(AP)—Johnny Palmer of Badin, N. C., shot a three-below par 69 today to lead by a single stroke at the halfway point in the Philadelphia Inquirer's $15,000 invitatic golf tourney.

Palmer, present Western Open champion, fired a 71 yesterday over the par 72 Whitemarsh Valley Country Club and his two trips over the 6,670-yard layout consumed 140 pokes.

Bobby Locke, the South African who won here a year ago, had 141—for the runner-up slot. Two 18-hole rounds are scheduled for tomorrow.

Ben Hogan of Hershey, Pa., George Schnieter of Ogden, Utah; and Dr. Cary Middlecoff of Memphis, with 69's yesterday to share the lead with Locke, ran into difficulties.

Schnieter, chairman of the P. G. A. tourney committee, zoomed to a 75 that lifted him four blows off the pace, while Middlecoff saw his score grow to 146.

Hogan brought home a total of 143 for a three-way tie for fourth with Ky Laffoon of Chicago and Skip Alexander of Mid-Pines, N. C.

E. J. (Dutch) Harrison of Little Rock, Ark., had 142 and third place.

MAL PATTON CLOCKED AT 9-3 SECONDS WITH 100-YARD DASH MARK

FRESNO, Calif., May 16.—(AP)—Mal Patton, this country's main sprint hope in the Olympics, bettered the world's 100-yard dash record today when he was clocked in 9.3 seconds.

The University of Southern California star, co-holder of the official mark of 9.4 seconds, sped to the history making time in the 22nd annual West Coast Relays. He nosed out Lloyd La Beach, Negro star, who will represent Panama in the Olympics, by inches with the latter closing with a rush.

Three of the five timers caught Patton at 9.3 seconds. The other two's watches showed 9.4.

The time was made under ideal running conditions.

There was no aiding wind and the gauge showed under the 3.5 miles per hour required to make application for world's records.

ST. JOSEPH INDIANS ROUT WATERPROOF TIGERS, 18-5

ST. JOSEPH, La., May 15.—(Special)—The St. Joseph Indians opened their 1948 baseball season Friday with a win over Waterproof on the St. Joseph diamond as they walloped three Waterproof hurlers for 21 hits, running up an 18-5 triumph behind Rip Duncan's pitching performance.

After setting the Tigers down in 1-2-3- order in the initial frame, the Indians started their massacre. Bunching three walks, a bunt and three singles, the home-towners pushed across four runs in the bottom half of the first inning.

"Reliable Rip" Duncan proceeded to fan every Waterproof batter until with one out in the third, Mackie Wampold rapped a single to center The Tigers rallied with one and three runs in the third and fourth respectively to tie the game at 4-all. The Indians broke out in a barrage of base hits in the fourth and fifth to bring the score to 15-4.

Turning the game into a slugfest, the Indians tallied three more times in the sixth and then held Waterproof scoreless in the top of the seventh to complete their 18-5 romp.

Leading the Indian sluggers was Venson Lowery with five hits in as many times at bat, Walker, Taunton, and Watson, with three apiece. In the run column, Thomas and Lowery led the winners with 3 tallies each. The Bulldogs of Crowville will tangle with the Indians in St. Joseph on May 20.

G DEMAND FOR COTTON PROBLEM

ministration Prepares To Finance Huge Volume Of Exports

ASHINGTON, May 15.—(Special)—e world-wide demand for high e cotton was named today as a f problem facing the economic eration administration as it pre- s to finance a huge volume of on exports.

D. White, assistant to the secre- of agriculture on cotton matters, so as he returned from a trip to ope, India, Pakistan, Egypt and ece.

the same time, he said, the grade otton being produced is becoming due to the shortage of labor and equent hurried picking over the ld.

is is very true of the United es, he said. To do something about omestically, he plans to meet in phis in the last week in May interested officials, including ufacturers of ginning equipment ginning engineers of the depart- t from Stoneville, Miss., and sville, Md.

e purpose of the meeting he de- bed as follows:

To see what can be done to im- e ginning equipment to gin hanically-picked cotton as well ough hand-picked cotton which is oming an increasing problem. re is a tendency to pick cotton gher with more trash in it and of er grade."

hroughout the world, Mr. White two important factors.

-A general tendency to raise es, along with a "relative" scar- of labor, which is having the e effect on cotton harvesting as in the U. S.

-Cotton consuming mills every- re, facing the higher wage scales, t to shift higher grades of cotton offset part of the cost of higher es.

They want higher grades in the of lower grades being produced," White explained.

The principal problem for the E. A. is this tendency to concentrate ing in the cream of the crop and hy away from utility, lower and dle grades, which are becoming e abundant throughout the world.

A problem in rehabilitating Europe o try to get them the quality of on they really need, not necessar- the best or the worst, but just t they should have to do the pro- ing job they want to do."

r. White had three suggestions.

he first is the foreign countries d to export cotton textiles to meet cotton requirements. They rely textiles for dollars. The textiles a prime export commodity for ing products such as vegetable and strategic materials.

econd, foreign industrial require- nts for raw cotton must be met. said cotton is needed for belting, cords, fish nets, thread and other ustrial uses.

r. White who also attended the enth annual meeting of the inter- onal cotton advisory committee in ro, was named chairman of the rnational delegation until the next ting to be held in Belgium.

he outstanding fact developed at meeting was the lack of factual rmation about cotton production selling, he said.

Before an effective international gram can be completed, there is ed for better development of facts ch are basic to planning and oper- g such a program," he said.

The 20 nations attending agreed to ke an effort to obtain more ade- te statistics regarding the quantity grades of cotton produced; the ntity consumed in mills and the ds; the quantity and kinds of cot- exported and consumer; the kinds quantity available for export and sumption.

e was struck by the primitive na- e of the cotton economy in Egypt, kistan, and Greece. In Greece, he d, "if we have a year or two" stantial progress will be made in proving the methods of cotton ning.

n Egypt, he said, farm acreage is erally larger than in the U. S., re resembling the Delta areas, with to 10,000 acres. THE NATION TODAY

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON, May 15.—(AP)—Congressman Jones gets up and says "Ladies and gentlemen, on this historic occasion. . . ."

Terrific speech. Full of dates, names and things that happened 100 years ago. How does he remember all that or have time to look it up?

Or—

Congressman Smith gets up in the House. No prepared speech. Just notes in his hand. He talks off the cuff.

Terrific talk. Full of facts and figures. Must know the subject inside out.

Maybe.

But maybe someone wrote the speech for Jones. Some write their own speeches or look up their own facts.

But a lot of them get help, even to having their speeches written for them and their facts handed to them.

A lot of this kind of ammunition comes from a group of about 100 people inside the Library of Congress, right behind the capitol.

They work in what's called the legislative reference service.

About 65 of the 100 are specialists, like lawyers, economists, experts on foreign affairs. The rest are clerks and stenographers.

It's their job to help congressmen. Top salary for them is $10,000 a year. Perhaps 12 or 15 make that much.

Here's how they work:

Congressman Jones calls up and says "I have to make a speech on George Washington. Get some stuff together for me."

The wheels grind. The man who knows the George Washington story best digs up a pile of stuff. He sends it over to Jones.

It may be in the form of a speech, if Jones wants it that way. All he has to do then is tack on "Ladies and Gentlemen" and start off.

Or Jones may take the information, rearrange it, and then dictate a speech of his own to his stenographer, weaving in the library material.

Or Congressman Smith calls up and says he has to make a House speech next week on tariffs. He wants facts and background.

A library expert on tariffs whips it together for him. Armed with that, maybe in the form of short notes, Smith makes a brilliant speech.

With all the other work they have, some congressmen can't find time for the research necessary for all the talking they do.

But in addition to the library staff, the congressional committees of both houses have experts working for them.

They, too, may grind out stuff for a committee member.

And when a congressional committee issues a long, learned report it's probably the committee staff which put it together.

In addition to all this, each congressman has an office staff of his own. So he can get help from his own assistants.

But when an important member of Congress makes a major speech on a major subject, like foreign affairs, it's a pretty safe bet that he wrote it himself.

One thing the legislative reference service won't do is help one congressman dig up information on another congressman, unless the second man says "okay."

Suppose Congressman Jones wants to take the skin off Congressman Smith on the floor of the House or in an election fight.

The library staff won't help Jones fight Smith—unless Smith says it's all right.

LUTHERAN MINISTER DEVOTES SERVICES TO DEAF AND DUMB

Master Of 6,000 Characters In Sign Language Preaches To Mutes

By Percy Fant

When speaking of unusual services being rendered to handicapped persons, it would hardly be permissable to exclude the work of Rev. Francis Gyle, Lutheran minister for the deaf and dumb.

The Reverend, who is the master of nearly 6,000 characters of sign-language, gives those who can neither speak nor hear an opportunity to worship God.

Paying monthly visits to Monroe, Rev. Kyle conducts regular services for twelve mutes of this city in the Trinity Lutheran Church.

In addition to his original circuit in southern Illinois and eastern Missouri, the miniter holds regular services in five southern states.

Cities included in these states are: Louisiana: Monroe, Shreveport, New Orleans and Baton Rouge; Mississippi: Jackson and Pascagoula; Arkansas: Little Rock, Ft. Smith and Blytheville; Tennessee: Memphis and Chattanooga, and Alabama: Mobile, Montgomery and Talladega.

After graduating from the University of California in 1938, Rev. Gyle attended the School for Deaf in Barkeley, Calif., and in 1942, he taught in Frederick, Maryland for one year.

Dr. Gyle, who has pursued this occupation for the past three years, started his monthly visits to Monroe October of last year, traveling about sometime by train, bus and automobile.

Speaking as a teacher, the minister had this comment to make:

"Students who are learning the art of speaking with their hands and fingers often confuse similar signs, having the most difficulty with interrogative words such as: who, where, what, and why."

At 31, Rev. Gyle is a native of California and has made his home, or as he calls it, his headquarters in St. Louis, Mo.

"A very fascinating thing about sign language," the Reverend stated, "is that these persons can speak just as fast with their fingers as the average person can with voice."

"When singing hymns at our services, we used our hands and fingers, and the participants show as much enthusiasm as any normal churchgoer."

In commenting on sign language, Rev. Gyle said the language is beautiful and very descriptive, with the persons using their hands and facial expressions to add emphasis to their conversation.

In many of the cities covered by the minister on his weekly tours, he conducts services both for white and colored members.

When asked of his future plans, Rev. Kyle said he would continue in his present field because, as he explained, "it's interesting, I like it and it's giving those persons who are handicapped a chance to worship God."

In several months Rev. Gyle hopes to narrow his circuit down to the Tennessee-Arkansas area.

"I'll do this," the minister stated, "as soon as another person can be selected to take my place. In the future, I hope to return to my regular district in southern Illinois and eastern Missouri to direct my attention on teaching the deaf sign language and to add new members to our church."

Horses revolutionized the lives of the plains Indians as greatly as autos changed the lives of the plain farmers.

SHERROUSE HAS SPRING CLINIC

P.-T. A. Roundup Of Pre-School Children Is Held Successfully

A successful examination of preschool children was completed Wednesday at the Sherrouse School under the direction of Dr. W. A. Chapman assisted by Mrs. Gossett.

Forty-two children who are to enter the first grade next year were checked for physical defects and registered. Immunizations were given for typhoid, diphtheria, and small pox to those who requested.

While the pre-school children visited in the first grade room, learning about school, meeting new friends and becoming familiar with the routine of school life, their mothers listened enthusiastically to Miss Marjorie Oliver, city school supervisor, tell of the importance of having their children ready for school entrance. She stated the child is a person with feelings even from the day he is born. What happens to him up to six years of age happens in the family unit. These years are fundamental. We can teach the child habits and ways to make him lovable and get along with society. You can learn about how to do this if you will attend the study groups sponsored by your Parent-Teacher Association and reading current magazines.

Mrs. L. G. Corley, summer round-up chairman for Sherrouse P.-T. A., was gratified with the response at the attendance of the mothers and much pleased with the interest and enthusiasm to have their children physically ready for school. She was ably assisted by Mrs. O. D. Hutto, Ed Cowan, and Mrs. Pat Wright.

LEAGUE'S HISTORY WILL BE STUDIED

Tuesday, May 18, at 8:00 o'clock p.m. at the Health Building, the night discussion group of the League of Women Voters will study the history of the league. This will cover a period of 27 years of the existence of the League of Women Voters. The theme revolves around 25 years of a great idea and that idea is, of course, the league and for what it stands. The study will include the birth, the growth and the workings at the present time of the organization.

On Thursday, May 20, at 10:00 o'clock a.m., the morning discussion group will meet in the home of Mrs. Robert Layton, 1112 Jackson for the same study theme of the 25 years of a great idea. Mrs. DeWitt Henry is the discussion leader for this group and always brings to the group an inspirational and intellectual message. All members of each group are urged to attend and study the background of the organization to which each belongs.

WHEN THE Statue of Liberty was to have her face lifted last year, the National Park Service discovered a thick coating of lipstick smeared on the interior walls by sightseers. Too hard to be scraped off, various solvents were tried. Finally butyl stearate was used. This specialized chemical softened the lipstick so that it could be removed. And when Miss Liberty's fresh make-up was applied, a slippery-surface paint was used to make her lipstick-proof.

The same qualities that helped to restore the famous lady's loveliness also give butyl stearate, a product of Commercial Solvents, a wide usefulness in industry—in lubricants to impart special properties, in rust-preventive oils, and as a waterproofing agent for cloth and cement.

In addition to such unusual uses, CSC chemicals work for you in such familiar things as writing ink, rubber cement, and anti-freeze for your car in winter. For CSC serves industry, medicine, and agriculture with more than 200 products through its major divisions: CSC Pharmaceuticals, Industrial Chemicals, Agricultural Chemicals, and Automotive Specialties.

HOT WEATHER has no terrors for the hostess who does all her entertaining at the LA CASA. Monroe hostesses no longer spend time planning a suitable menu for a luncheon or dinner party. They simply telephone the LA CASA, engage a table and tell the hostesses what type of food is desired. Isn't it simple and isn't it wonderful? The new LA CASA is spacious and cool but the food still remains the same because it could not be improved upon.

I SAW A YOUNG bride-to-be proudly showing off her diamond engagement ring to a group of friends the other day and telling them it came from PEACOCK'S JEWELRY SHOP. She also told them that she had had her eye on it for a long time. . . . It had a certain sparkle and radiance she knew could never be found in another stone. When that ring from PEACOCK'S was slipped on her finger . . . it wasn't just for today, but forever and forever because such rings are handed down from generation to generation.

I CAME TO THE conclusion the other day after eating sandwiches made from MEL-O-TOAST BREAD from the CITY BAKERY that nothing really takes the place of this famous, "made in Monroe product." I have eaten sandwiches of every size and shape from various kinds of bread but never, I vow, have I found anything to equal MEL-O-TOAST. It's so soft and fragrant, so appetizing and so fresh. . . . It comes from the ovens at the CITY BAKERY twice every day.

MARRIAGE OF MISS EDWARDS AND MR. GENTRY IS CELEBRATED AT FIRST METHODIST CHURCH

One of the interesting weddings of the spring season was solemnized at the First Methodist Church of Monroe, Friday evening, May 7, at 8 o'clock when Ezell Edwards, daughetr of Mr. and Mrs. James Clifford Edwards of West Monroe, became the bride of Mr. Andrew Jack Gentry, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Gentry of Sikes, La. The Rev. E. K. Means officiated in the impressive double-ring ceremony.

Artistic arrangements of large white gladioli and fern in tall white baskets were used against a background of southern smilax which banked the chancel railing.

Preceding the ceremony, a nuptial concert was rendered. Mrs. Nina Harris, of Columbia, who was wearing a beautiful gown of aqua crepe and black hat trimmed in aqua, played several organ selections, including some of the bride's favorites. She also accompanied Mr. James McBeth, who sang in lovely voice "Through the Years," and "Because." The Bridal Chorus from Wagner's "Lohengrin" was used as the processional and Mendelssohn's "Wedding March," as the recessional. During the exchange of vows, the organist also played soft music.

The bride's only attendant was her maid of honor, Miss Gloria Warner of West Monroe. She wore a soft blue crepe gown with attractive drapery on the side and a string of pearls. Her chic hat was formed of pink blossoms that matched her gloves and she wore a corsage of pink carnations and white and pink daisies.

The bride, given in marraige by her brother, Mr. Charles Edwards, wore a striking model of blush pink crepe. The torso waist was fashioned with a sweetheart neckline and a pink lace yoke and short puffed sleeves. It was joined to a full skirt which hung in graceful folds. Her becoming aqua hat was of an old-fashioned design trimmed with pink rose buds and an aqua veil on one side. Her long lace gloves were of the same hue as her gown, and she carried a bouquet of valley lilies centered with an orchid. For something borrowed, she wore an exquisite string of pearls that belonged to her mother. For something old, she chose the gold wedding band of the groom's grandmother.

Attending the groom as his best man was Mr. Oswald Adams of West Monroe. Serving as ushers were Mr. James Honeycutt of Harrisonburg and Mr. George Hayes of Monroe.

Following the ceremony, an informal reception was held in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Edwards. The living rooms were decorated with a variety of colorful spring flowers. In baskets and low bowls were artistic arrangements of pink and blue hydrangea, rosebuds, candytuft and greenery.

Assisting in receiving the guests was the bride's mother, who was wearing a black crepe gown with side drapery down the length of the skirt and a black off-the-face hat and a corsage of pink carnations.

The bride's table, covered with a handsome white linen cloth, was centered with a three-tiered wedding cake embossed in white with garlands of green and surmounted with bride and groom figurines. Surrounding the base of the confection were frills of lace and ribbon streamers arranged in artistic fashion. On either side white tapers burned in silver candelabra to enhance the pretty effect. From a crystal bowl at one end of the table lime frappe was served by Miss Darline Neal, who was wearing a dress of black floral design with drapery and a white of-the-face hat and a corsage of white carnations.

Crystal trays held individual cakes and green mints that were passed among the guests by Miss Louise Gentry, Miss Martha Hendricks and Miss Marie McNair. Miss Gentry wore a pink floral crepe with a smart toast colored hat; Miss Hendricks chose an attractive frock of pink and black floral design and a white hat, and Miss McNair was lovely in a pink dress fashioned with a soft draper in the back and a black hat. The three wore corsages of white carnations.

The bride is a graduate of the Bastrop High School and she attended Bish Mathis Institute. She has been employed by Ford, Bacon and Davis for several months.

The groom is a graduate of Evans High School, Merryville, Louisiana. He experienced thirty-two months service in the Air Corps, after which he entered Northeast Junior College where he presently is majoring in business administration. He plans to continue his studies in this field at Louisiana Polytechnic Institute.

Mr. and Mrs. Gentry are now at home at 1013 N. Fourth Street.

Out-of-town guests who attended the wedding included: Mr. and Mrs. Bill Pate of Sterlington; Mrs. C. B. Eaves of Beaumont, Texas; Miss Bernice Norsworthy, Miss Ann Norsworthy, Mrs. Albert Eubanks, Mr. Douglas Eubanks, all of Bastrop; Mr. and Mrs. S. O. Henry, Jr., Miss Mary Cottingham, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Reitzell, Mrs. Nina Harris, Miss Gwen Henry, all of Columbia.

HIGH SCHOOL VALEDICTORIAN

Miss Hilda Jean Head, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. W. Head, of West Monroe, will be the valedictorian of the graduating class of Okaloosa High School. She received a scholarship to Louisiana Polytechnic Institute and will enroll for the fall term.

MEMBERS OF THE REVIEW CLUB MEET FOR LAST TIME THIS YEAR IN MRS. LOFTIN'S HOME

It was the last meeting of the year of the Review Club so the hostess, Mrs. J. C. Loftin created a note of festivity in the reception suite of her home by placing a profusion of beautiful garden flowers in the background.

After the reading of the club collect and routine business procedures, final plans for the annual open meeting were formulated and perfected. The presentation of a distinguished and eminent educator and author, Dr. A. L. Crabbe, at the Library of Northeast Junior College on May 28, at 4 p. m. will be an event of outstanding interest to cultural and educational groups of the Twin Cities. Dr. Crabbe's position as a member of the faculty of Peabody college has created a large following among educators throughout the south and his books dealing with the region around Nashville, Tennessee and with the figure of Andrew Jackson are well-known and highly-regarded. His appearance here will be a distinct contribution to literary circles.

An impressive service installing the newly-elected club officers was conducted by Mrs. Leola Nixon, past president of the 5th District Federated Clubs, and an individual who occupies a special niche in the Review Club through association and influence. Pledged to serve for the coming club year were: Mrs. John P. Noel, president; Mrs. F. V. Barnett, vice-president; Mrs. Z. J. Byrd, secretary; Mrs. J. C. Loftin, treasurer; Mrs. A. T. Givens, advisory board member.

The afternoon's program was a fitting climax to a year of worthwhile, provocative study arranged by members and the University of North Carolina Library. Mrs. W. T. Davis introduced the speakers, Mrs. E. P. Cudd and Mrs. Paul Neal, who reviewed "Life and the Dream" and "Impresario".

Mrs. Cudd in analytical and delightful manner discussed Mary Colum's prodigious volume, "Life and the Dream", selecting with discrimination sections sufficient to lead her listeners to read this chronicle which is so rich in recollections. These memoirs are the record of a rich, lively and human mind and the expression of a unique and delightful personality. Here are impressions and reflections of a literary life which led Mary Colum from the Dublin of the Abbey Theatre to the artistic circles of London, to the Paris of James Joyce and then to the intellectual movement of America.

Mary Colum writes with somber beauty of her childhood in an Ireland dominated by English-appointed officials and survivors of the "planter" landowners. She recounts her years in austere Irish and continental convents—years that were relieved by her humor, her eager discovery of literature and by her youthful wonder at life which she has had the art to get into words. She tells of her student days in Dublin which were the days of the Celtic Revival of the personalities of Yeats, Synge and Lady Gregory-an exciting and pungent story of a great Renaissance and of life in America where, except for intervals of residence in France and Ireland, she has lived since 1914.

Whether she is writing of an Irish wake, of riotous theatre performances in Ireland, or the life and death of Elinor Wylie, she brings to her subject a gift of direct expression, a satirical and humorous eye, an artist's and critic's understanding of literature and an appreciation of life that has made her an outstanding personality on the literary scene. Thus Mary Colum covers the whole of modern letters; she has lived at the center of it and her book is teeming with portraits of great writers, artists and political figures whom she recalls vividly and with deep perception. This is more than an autobiography. It is like the writings of Santayana. It is a memoir, informed and enriched by poetry and philosophy as well.

Irish-born Mary Colum, wife of the poet and playwright, Padriac Colum, occupies a unique position as critic, having a broad understanding of traditional literature and a quick appreciation original and experimental writing. Her book on modern writing, "From These Roots", is a standard work. With her husband she teaches literature at Columbia University.

Mrs. Neal told with skill and effectiveness the amazing story of the amazing S. Hurok, one of the last of the world's grand-style impresarios. Born in Russia the son of a hardware merchant who anticipated his son's following in his same footsteps the same pattern of life in Russia, this precocious and audacious young man instead came to America, which beckoned to him as a land of promise and hope, as gleaned from the reading of phenomenal success stories about Franklin. From countless jobs of all kinds Hurok eked out an existence but during these lean years there burned within him the desire and dream of presenting in America forms of Russian art, opera and ballet stars, pianists. With cunning and foresight, coupled with his insatiable love of art as art, he planned Sunday afternoon concerts which were sufficiently popular among the foreign born, as well as the native population of New York City to give him a start toward the realization of his dream. Since those early days he has coped with many of the most trying of the temperaments of celebrated artists for he has presented Chaliapin, Pavlova, Isadora Duncan, Marian Anderson, and many other stars of first magnitude, as well as whole companies of musicians and dancers from Spanish gypsy to Russian ballet. He conquered the difficulties with infinite tact and patience and his genuine affection and consideration for the artists under his care is probably chiefly responsible for his great success as "S. Hurok Presents."

During the hour of conversation which followed the program the hostess, Mrs. Loftin, served a frosted drink and a variety of sweets to the guests who were: Mrs. R. E. Major, Sr., Mrs. Howard Carter and Mrs. Leola Nixon and to the following members: Mrs. F. V. Barnett, Mrs. C. B. Braun, Mrs. Z. J. Byrd, Mrs. Rodney Cline, Mrs. E. P. Cudd, Mrs. W. T. Davis, Mrs. C. P. Gray Jr., Mrs. DeWitt Henry, Mrs. Paul Neal, Mrs. J. P. Noel, Mrs. Sam Smith and Mrs. A. B. Paterson Jr.

Friends of Mrs. A. D. Foreman will be glad to know that she has recovered sufficiently from a recent operation to be removed to her home, and will be glad for friends to call.

Beautiful Gardens Of Ante-Bellum Home Scene Of Garden Club Meeting

Old Southern Garden Is Setting For Charming Event Climaxing The Year's Work Of Monroe Garden Club

The gardens of Dr. and Mrs. Melville Hunter's plantation home offered an idyllic setting for the last meeting of the year of the Monroe Garden Club. Tables and chairs were grouped beneath the century-old trees and in the distance could be heard the voices of a colored choir singing spirituals associated with Monroe when plantation life flourished. A group of dancers, fairy elves, also entertained the club members and their guests. In the picture can be seen: Mrs. Wilson Ewing, president of the Garden Club, and the hostesses for the garden party, Mrs. Gladys Sperry, Mrs. Gilbert Stovall, Mrs. W. C. Stevenson, Mrs. H. G. Thompson, Mrs. R. C. Sparks, Mrs. Burt Sperry and Mrs. Hunter.

Others are: Mrs. Bunn Beasley, Mrs. B. W. Biedenharn, Miss Emma Louise Biedenharn, Mrs. John Breard, Mrs. Booles Breed, Mrs. Neil Bowie, Mrs. A. R. Butler, Mrs. E. F. Dalton, Mrs. J. B. Dawkins, Mrs. T. L. Downs, Mrs. J. G. Durrett, Mrs. J. C. Earnest, Mrs. T. G. Easterling, Mrs. J. W. Gaines, Mrs. David Garrett, Mrs. J. Q. Graves, Mrs. O. M. Grisham, Mrs. H. E. Guerriero, Mrs. W. M. Harper, Mrs. G. L. Holloway, Mrs. C. U. Johnson, Mrs. R. L. Junod, Mrs. Walter Kellogg, Mrs. Frank Kennedy, Mrs. J. B. Kugler, Mrs. Robert Layton, Mrs. George Lester, Mrs. Thomas Leigh, Mrs. Vernon Maish, Mrs. M. C. McGuire, Mrs. Jewell McQuiller, Mrs. G. A. Miller, Mrs. Charles Mitchell, Mrs. A. E. Montgomery, Mrs. H. A. Mouk, Mrs. W. C. Oliver, Mrs. W. N. Reynolds, Mrs. Warren Taylor, Mrs. A. S. Tidwell, Mrs. J. H. Thatcher, Mrs. A. D. Tisdale, Mrs. Bridger Thornhill, Mrs. E. H. Venable, Mrs. R. D. Whitecotton, Mrs. Briscoe Trousdale, Mrs. J. J. Potts, Mrs. Ernest Richard, Miss Eve Bradford, Mrs. D. A. Bradford, Mrs. Ernest Garner, Mrs. John Ewing Garner and Mrs. E. R. Piggott.

In an old southern garden where ladies in crinoline walked in the long ago beneath the blossoming magnolia trees and the voices of the plantation slaves singing at their work in the fields, broke the stillness of the quiet summer evenings, members of the Monroe Garden Club enjoyed a garden party as the guests of Dr. Julia Hunter, mistress of Hard Times plantation. This home is one of the few antebellum homes left in this section of Louisiana and is also one of the few homes built one-hundred and fifty years ago that still retai the original style of architecture. Hard Times plantation has dramatized its seclusion among the giant oaks, cedars, pines and magnolias by keeping the grounds as they were before the Civil W. Modern landscaping has had no part . . . the natural beauty of the grounds has remained undisturbed through the years. In the rear of the home the grounds slope gently down to the edge of the bayou where the sleepy waters have mirrored the shifting scenes of a century or more.

Chairs were grouped for the Garden Club members beneath the towering magnolia trees now in full bloom. Mrs. Wilson Ewing, club president presided during the brief business session. At this time Miss Emma Louise Biedenharn gave a report of the nominating committee of which Mrs. A. K. Kilpatrick is chairman. Other members are Mrs. A. G. McHenry, Mrs. Gilbert Stovall, Miss Biedenharn. The officers elected for the new year are: Mrs. Aylmer Montgomery, president; Mrs. Robert Layton, vice-president; Mrs. Wilson Ewing, second vice-president; Mrs. J. B. Kugler, secretary; Mrs. D. T. Milam, treasurer; Mrs. C. P. Jarrell, historian; Mrs. Allan Sholars, parliamentarian. The standing committee chairmen are:

Mrs. J. R. Wooten, public relations; Mrs. Flood Madison, roadside development; Mrs. H. G. Thompson, horticulture; Mrs. Gilbert Stovall, publicity; Mrs. Jewell McQuiller, program.

An open discussion of programs was followed by the appointment of the Year Book committee:—Mrs. A. K. Kilpatrick, Mrs. Jewell McQuiller, Miss Emma Louise Biedenharn, Mrs. Gilbert Stovall, Mrs. Ray Rhymes, and Mrs. Grover Holloway.

The speaker for the meeting was Mrs. Jewell McQuiller. She used as her subject "Louisiana Perennials" and displayed a wealth of material to illustrate her talk. Mrs. McQuiller held the rapt attention of her listeners as she told in detail of the many perennials to be found in "Lovely Louisiana."

Mrs. J. J. Potts gave a resume of the meeting of the State Federation of Garden Clubs which she recently attended. Mrs. Gilbert Stovall, chairman of the public safety committee, reported the committee had made a survey of blind corners within the city limits. Through the efforts of the committee, many of these hazardous conditions had been eliminated.

A guest of the club, Mrs. John Ewing Garner, was introduced at this time. She is a member of a prominent Ouachita parish pioneer family and has just returned to Monroe, home of her birth, after an absence of many years during which time she resided in Springfield, Tenn. Mrs. Garner is the daughter of the late Captain and Mrs. I. D. Van Logan who lived at Hard Times plantation, their ancestral home. Mrs. Garner's daughter, Mrs. Earnest Richard was also introduced at this time. Mr. and Mrs. Richard recently came to Monroe and are residing on St. John street.

When the shadows lengthened, the loveliest time of the day at Hard Times plantation, voices of a colored chorus were heard in the distance. Negro spirituals associated with plantation life of long ago were sung. Three little girls, Ann Ray, Sheila Causey and Betty Cole costumed as colored mammies entertained with several song numbers.

Two talented dancers, Dixie Brown and Ann Ray, costumed as fairy elves, contributed a lovely dance number reminiscent of spring.

Mrs. T. G. Easterling and Mrs. Gilbert Stovall presided over the massive crystal punch bowl placed on the rustic table in a shadowy alcove. The central decor of the table, covered with homespun cotton cloth, one of Dr. Hunter's prized possessions, was an immense plaque of Magnolia blossoms. The hostesses for the afternoon, Dr. Hunter, Mrs. Gladys Sperry, Mrs. R. C. Sparks, Mrs. W. C. Stevenson, Mrs. Burt Sperry and Mrs. H. G. Thompson, passed trays laden with a variety of delicious confections.

Members of the Garden Club, pleasantly reminiscent, recalled the splendid work accomplished during the past year under the leadership of Mrs. Ewing. Of particular interest were the programs on Louisiana irises, roses, hollies, azaleas and camellias. During the year just ended a public safety program was inaugurated and funds donated for the establishment of two horticulture scholarships.

On the lighter side was the brilliant Christmas tea in the George Lester home. A tour of gardens also highlighted the year's program and of interest was the camellia show. The rare specimens exhibited at this time showed how camellia conscious this city has become and how expertly they are grown by Monroe Garden Club members.

The most important thing of all, perhaps, was the growth in membership during the past year.

FOR THOSE WHO LISTEN

In May there is no further need of words,
For all is said that listening ear can hold:
The tulips tell of more bright faith, and birds
Of rapture and content, than speech has told;
An iris needs no argument at all—
One stands convinced, wordless and reverent;
Pure truths in petaled syllables now fall
On hearts like apple blossoms in descent;
Look up into a maple's symmetry—
Rosetted green, laced thru with velvet boughs—
If you would hear perfection's mystery
And add divine dimensions to your vows;
In purple symphonies the lilacs glisten
And whisper God's words to those who listen!

McAdams, the newly elected president, presided over the meeting in the absence of the out-going president, Mrs. J. R. Roark. A brief business meeting was held to conclude this year's activity of the club year. At this time Mrs. McAdams introduced the new officers for the coming year. Mrs. P. E. OUT OF TOWN WEDDING

An interesting wedding of last week was that of Dr. Beverly Blood and Dr. John Alfred King, which took place Saturday afternoon in New Orleans at St. Andrew's Episcopal church. The Rev. Girault M. Jones performed the ceremony. The bride, given in marriage by her brother, Capt. George Austin Blood, U. S. Army, of Savannah, Ga., wore a pale blue light-weight wool suit with a white silk blouse, a navy-blue straw hat trimmed with blue ribbon bows and navy-blue accessories. She carried a prayerbook from which fell a spray of pale lavender orchids.

She had as her matron of honor and only attendant, her sister, Mrs. Edward Lee Hochendel, Jr., of Monroe, La., whose dusty-pink fraille suit was worn with a black straw picture hat and black accessories and a corsage bouquet of purple orchids. Dr. King had as his man, Mr. William Follett King. Charles Stewart Churchill of Belle Alliance plantation, near Donaldsonville, La., sang "The Lord's Prayer." Following the ceremony there was a reception at "Cedar Grove," the home of Mrs. Pierre J. Stouse on the Missisippi river, neas Waggaman, La.

Mrs. Stouse received the guests in a pale green chiffon dress worn with white accessories and a corsage of white gardenias. And assisting her were Mrs. J. Purely Personal

The spirit of home building is sweeping the land and is even more exuberant today than when materials and willing workmen were available at much less cost. Great economical forces are at work and they are apt to show in cycles or waves; there is an ebb and flow, and it is hard to be patient at ebb time, waiting for the flow. The young people of today are possessed with home building, home owning desire. It is heartening to see them going ahead with what materials are at hand or can be had without mortgaging too much of their future. This home owning desire is one of the solid foundation stones of our community.

Old houses have a strange fascination for some people and many old homes in Monroe are changing hands. Many of them are being restored and are becoming the birthplaces of new hopes and dreams. Old homes are full of memories and the new owners no doubt wonder if happiness dwelt within the walls . . . were there children under the roof and if the lady of the house really appreciated the view, or was she too tired to care. Was there more laughter there than tears?

One of the old homes recently sold and now owned by newcomers to Monroe is the home of Mrs. Frank P. Stubbs on Riverside. The new owners are Mr. and Mrs. George Scrimshaw, formerly of San Antonio, Texas. Mrs. Scrimshaw is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lutcher Brown of San Antonio. Mr. and Mrs. Scrimshaw plan extensive improvements in the home they just purchased.

Mrs. Stubbs will make her home at the Layton Place an apartment has just been finished for occupancy. Mrs. Robert Layton and Mrs. Stubbs are sisters, so the change of residence will prove a happy arrangement for both of them.

Mrs. Earl Naiden recently sold her home to Mr. and Mrs. William Scott of West Falls, N. Y. and before she turns the keys over to the new owners is having a family reunion. Her two daughters and their husbands, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Finlayson of Tyler, Texas, and Mr. and Mrs. James Wood of Troy, Ala., are spending the week-end with her. Mrs. Naiden plans to spend the greater part of her time this summer with her daughter, Mrs. Finlayson.

It is nice to know that one of the old homes, The Cedars, will not pass into alien hands. It has been sold but a relative of the original owners, Guy P. Stubbs, Jr., is in possession. Mr. and Mrs. Stubbs and children are looking forward to a happy future in this old home that has been in the Stubbs family for years. In fact Mr. Stubb's father was born at The Cedars. The vast acreage extended along a vast riverside and far in the rear.

The Shelby Hills didn't have a chance to spend even one night in the new home they recently built. It was bought by Mr. and Mrs. Charles Brown of Orange, Texas, before the paint was dry or the welcome mat was put out. This home is on Spencer avenue.

One of the show places when finished will be the home of Dr. and Mrs. Hadyn Cutler, recently purchased from Richard Kellogg. The home was partially destroyed by fire several years ago but is now being restored and when completed will be more beautiful than it was originally. The tall white columns are most imposing.

Mr. and Mrs Slade Brown and son, formerly of Orange, Texas, unable to find living quarters are making their home at the Frances Hotel.

Mrs. James C. Liner, state vice-regent of the Daughters of the American Revolution attended the national Congress in Washington, D. C., and tells of a happy day spent with Mrs. Thomas Wyatt, the former Adelaide Parker of this city and Mrs. Monte Cone, the former Miss Eleanor Faulk of West Monroe. Mrs. Wyatt resides in Arlington and Mrs. Cone in Alexandria, Va., and they called for Mrs. Liner at her hotel in Washington for an all day talk-fest. With the whole day before them they motored to all the historic spots in and near Washington. Mrs. Liner tells us that Mrs. Cone and son Michael will arrive soon to visit her parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Faulk.

One dozen gorgeous orchids reached Monroe in perfect condition via airway from South America. They were sent by Neill Matthews to his mother, Mrs. H. B. Matthews for Mother's Day. She shared them with feminine members of the family so that all would be privileged to wear a corsage of orchids on Mother's Day. Orchids grow wild in South America but the price to send them air mail is exorbitant and for that reason few of them are shipped.

Atheneum Club Meets For Last Time This Year

Farewells were spoken by members of the Atheneum club at the luncheon table at the La Casa where the last meeting of the club year took place. It was a festive occasion with beautiful flowers banking the silver serviced table. The place cards were attached to miniature crystal vases holding blue, pink and blue flowers.

Mrs. D. L. Nichol, president, presided over the business period when officers for the new year were installed with an appropriate ceremony by Mrs. S. D. Kennedy.

The finance chairman outlined activities for the summer and other items of club business was transacted.

Mrs. Nichol called attention to the poetry contest sponsored by the Louisiana Federated Women's Clubs, of which Mrs. J. R. White of Monroe is chairman, and requested that entries be mailed Mrs. White before October 1.

Mrs. S. C. Evans, mother of Mrs. A. M. Barrett, was welcomed as a guest on this occasion.

A "Who's Who" guessing game was prompted by the display of childhood pictures of the members, and also late pictures of mothers of members, this feature affording considerable merriment.

Present for the delightful luncheon and to participate in the program were Mesdames A. M. Barrett, Fred Grant, Clark Butler, Walter C. Minniear, T. Gallien, E. H. Williamson, E. H. Scott, D. L. Nichol, P. L. Crowell, S. D. Kennedy, J. P. Lewis and W. C. Curry, and the guest, Mrs. S. C. Evans.

WHITE-SHUMWAY WEDDING CLAIMS THE INTEREST OF MANY FRIENDS

An impressive ceremony united in marriage Miss Bettie Sue White, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. White, of Foules, Louisiana, and Keith Charles Shumway, U. S. N., son of Mrs. Walter Ainslie of Oklahoma City, Oklahoma and the late Dr. Charles W. Shumway. The double-ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. J. H. Hamilton of Ferriday in the Pine Hill Baptist Church, Sicily Island at 7 o'clock p. m.

The altar was decorated with baskets of white peonies, stock, Easter lilies, and fern, flanked on either side by candelabra holding tall white tapers. A trellis of southern smilax and ivy formed the setting for the Haughton High School mixed chorus. Each one carried a lighted taper and wore black and white vestments.

Miss Aline Ruple of Shreveport, pianist, played a medley of wedding airs, including "Oh Promise Me," "Because," and "Ah Sweet Mystery of Life" while the candles were being lighted. Mrs. Robert Wilson of St. Joseph sang "I Love Thee" by Greig and "Panis Angelicius" by Cesar Franck. Miss Doris Haskell of Ruston, violinist, played "Ave Maria" by Bach-Gounod, and she and Miss Ruple played "Evening Star" by Wagner during the pledging of the wedding vows. The traditional wedding marches were used. The choir sang Malotte's "Lord Prayer" at the close of the benediction.

Miss Wanda White, maid of honor and sister of the bride, wore a blue brocaded taffeta gown with a bertha neck line. The full skirt had a bustle back. Mrs. John Schreiber, Jr., of Ferriday, matron of honor and sister of the bride, wore an identical gown. Mrs. Nixon Tooke, Jr., of Bossier City and Miss Sarah Rose Murray of Vidalia, bridesmaids, wore yellow brocaded taffeta models. All of the attendants wore gloves of self material and black satin ribbons attached to cameo brooches. They carried colonial bouquets of yellow and blue iris with maline and broad ribbon streamers.

The candles were lighted by Miss Dannie Boone and Miss Marjorie Dale Gibson of Shreveport.

Susan Leah Schreiber and Annette White, flower girls and nieces of the bride, wore white satin dresses with chantilly lace yokes and full skirts caught with sprays of valley lilies. They carried French baskets of rose petals. The ring bearer, John Schreiber, III, nephew of the bride, carried the rings on a white satin pillow.

The bride, entering with her father, wore a lovely gown of white satin with a tightly buttoned bodice, narrow bertha neck line with a yoke of imported chantilly lace; long sleeves came to a point over the wrist. The full skirt ended in a voluminous train. A tiara of chantilly lace with twisted bands of white satin held the fingertip veil of imported illusion. She carried a colonial bouquet of white carnations and stephanotis, centered with a white orchid with satin streamers showered with stephanotis and candytuft. Her only ornament was an antique cameo brooch which had belonged to her grandmother.

Robert Paul Shumway of Oklahoma City served his brother as best man. The ushers were James Ferrel of Lake Providence, Paul White, brother of the bride, and John Schreiber, Jr.

Follo the ceremony a reception was held on Anchor Plantation, home of the bride. In the receiving line with the bride and groom were her parents, Mr. Robert P. Shumway, and the wedding attendants.

The bride's table was laid with a linen cloth and the center of attention was the three tiered wedding cake at one end of the table. Punch was served from a crystal punch bowl at the other end of the table. A center piece of white snapdragons, stock, and fern was lovely. Crystal candelabra with tall white tapers were used on each side of the center piece. Roses, stock, iris, and snapdragons were used profusely throughout the receiving rooms. Mrs. James Ferrel of Lake Providence presided at the cake service and Miss Hilda Gatlin of Haughton presided at the punch bowl. Those assisting in the serving courtesies were Mrs. Fred Green, Mrs. Richard Green, Mrs. Charles Saxe, Miss Marie Saxe, and Mrs. Anne Lee Monsell.

Billie Farrel Munn and Elizabeth Ann Tooke of Haughton were in charge of the guest book.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. White wore a gray printed sheer with a corsage of white ranunculus and stephonatis.

For the wedding trip Mrs. Shumway wore a white and black gabardine dressmaker suit with black accessories. Her corsage was an orchid.

Mrs. Shumway graduated from Vidalia High School and received her B. M. degree from Louisiana Tech. She is now vocal and band director of the Haughton High School.

Ens. Shumway graduated from Guthrie, Oklahoma High School. He attended Oklahoma City University, Louisiana Tech, and received his B. S. degree from Duke University. He is now on active duty with the navy.

MOTHERS OF YOUNG WOMEN ARE GUESTS OF HONOR AT DINNER

Members of the Business & Professional Girls Chapter of the Y. W. C. A. held their annual Mother-Daughter banquet at the Y. W. C. A. Wednesday night.

The candle-lit dining room made a charming setting for this affair. Pink roses and sweetpeas, arranged in crystal bowls formed the floral decor. They were flanked on either side by tall pink tapers in crystal candelabra.

IN PRESENTED TO MRS. POIMBOEUF BY THE RANSOM SCHOOL P.-T. A.

ighlighting the May meeting of Ramson P.-T. A. was the presenon of Life Membership pin to Mrs. h Poimboeuf, a teacher of Ranschool. Mrs. Poimboeuf has been ember of the P.-T. A. for 10 years has never missed a meeting. In senting this award on behalf of P.-T. A., Mrs. W. D. Clark, prinl. had this to say, "Mrs. Poimuf has always had the interest of child at heart. She seeks to build d citizens. She is qualified to do so ause her own life is rich and full. cation is broader than a list of lies. It is a war against ignorle, prejudice, and selfish living. ching requires wide knowledge, erstanding children, reconstructthe program in terms of personal ng, guidance and counseling, char- training, and democracy, its ileges and responsibilities. Perhaps after all the best evaluation teacher is to be found not in reds available in the office of prinals, and superintendents but rather he responses of the pupils. In the tory of the P.- T. A. these 10 years be but fleeting days. In the history of child welfare, however, they are mighty years, signifying great progress along the lines that bring our children to happy, useful, and adventurous living. Words of tribute may mean much, or may mean little, but we must attract into our ranks more men and women who have a courageous outlook.

"Mrs. Poimboeuf has been recognized as a leader in civic, church, and educational circles and is entitled to the appreciation of everyone who gives thought to the welfare of the child. It is manifest that the advance in the standards of schooling which Americans as a people demand for their boys and girls would have been impossible without the happy creation of the various associations of parents and teachers. In the ability to live together as people—in our homes, schools, churches and community—lies our only hope for the future of our choice.

"Therefore, Ransom P.-T. A. is happy to present this pin to be worn as a token of service."

Mrs. Poimboeuf made a gracious response and many members came forward and congratulated her.

MRS. POIMBOEUF HONORED

Mrs. W. D. Clark is seen presenting the Ransom P.-T. A. life membership pin to Mrs. Ruth Poimboeuf, member of the school faculty for the past ten years. The pin was awarded for exceptional service, loyalty and for her keen interest in children.

The attendance May 9 at the Sabbath school was gratifying. Your presence cheered the faithful, and proved what can be done when we have a mind to work. The teachers can teach with fervor when you are in the class. Will you attend today? If you will attend you will be the means of influencing other people to attend.

"Christ and Man's Overpowering Desires" is the subject of the morning message. What are the desires that motivate man, explaining his every action even though he is not conscious thereof? Christ can use these desires in the building of character.

The Presbyterian Caravan, will have charge of the program at the evening hour, seven thirty o'clock. These young people are working in the interest of a Presbyterian Student center. Hear them, will you?

A hearty greeting awaits you.

LOOD DONORS ASSIST CAUSE

dge W. M. Harper, Group Chairman, Releases Names Of Contributors

The names of 59 donors to the Red oss blood bank for April are given Judge W. M. Harper, chairman the Red Cross blood bank com- ttee. Incidentally it is stated that re is a separate blood bank main- ned for colored and in the list is e name of one colored donor. Many re are desired.

For several months the member- ips of the Monroe Kiwanis Club, change Club, Optimist Club and ycees, all of whom have volun- ered to donate blood, have con- cted a contest to see which organ- tion produced the most volunteers. few Rotarians and Lions have me forward but not in groups as ve the other organizations. All cit- ens, whether members of these or- nizations or not, are urged to join this humanitarian work if they e below the age of 60 and in good alth. Enlistment may be by simply lling the Red Cross office, telephone 80, and registering by telephone. a subsequent date the volunteer will be called by the Red Cross office and given an appointment to come to the blood bank in the Ouachita parish Health Center (old Post Office building) where able physicians are in readiness to withdraw the blood which is placed in refrigeration subject to requisition by any doctor without cost or charge by the Red Cross.

In charge of the withdrawals at the Health Center are Doctors W. C. Summers, Fred Marx, A. V. Miller, F. E. McCarty and Margaret Coon. These doctors, all giving of their services without fee, are assisted in this work by Mrs. C. D. McAdams, Mrs. E. C. Mallette and Mrs. Paul Thompson, acting as nurses aides and who likewise donate their services to the cause.

Withdrawals are conducted at the Health Center three times weekly. The blood drawn is typed and the donor furnished a certificate showing type of his blood. A systematic record is maintained in the Red Cross office where there are now recorded some 900 volunteer donors. However, for a community of our size, acting as hospitalization center for northeast Louisiana and southern Arkansas, we should have on file no less than 3500 donors. Therefore, it can be seen that additional donors are badly needed.

Donors giving their blood to the Red Cross blood bank receive no fee. The cost of operating the blood bank is borne by the Red Cross organization from its general fund, and as stated, the blood goes out from the Red Cross blood bank without cost to the patient by the Red Cross.

Persons in need of blood for transfusion purposes should contact the Red Cross blood bank before making public calls for volunteers. If the blood is not available in the bank, the donor files will be immediately searched to find a donor of the blood type needed. Persons who make appointments to go to the blood bank for withdrawals are urged to carry out their appointments or call the Red Cross office in sufficient time so that alternates may be secured, for the reason that failure to keep appointments seriously upsets the procedure of the blood bank. Efforts are made to restrict the number of withdrawals to the amount of blood apparently needed, thereby avoiding surpluses in the bank and resultant spoilage. Last week of eight appointments only two kept them, which threw the blood bank into confusion and caused the volunteer workers to come back for an extra day which is an unnecessary hardship on them, stated W. M. Harper, chairman of donor recruiting.

The blood donors for the month of April are as follows: Third donation, W. D. Crosby and R. S. Baggott.

Second donation: Stanley Wasson, Roberta Bondy, Robert Cowden, G. L. Roth, L. M. Brinson, W. G. Mangham and James R. Moore.

Those making their first donation are the following: W. M. Gaines, Tom M. Hayes, Harold McConnell, L. J. Downs, Odie Lee Gregory, George E. Meredith, Thomas Watts, Wayne Brockner, C. H. Steele, Z. T. Stone, H. G. Bailey, Nolan Hebert, Ralph Marrionneaux, Herman Chapman, Joy Dale Tisale, L. E. Sturdivant, Audrey McDermott, Charles Regan, R. D. Carter, Robert Watley, Robert Hanna, W. A. Robinson, W. C. Johnston, M. L. Holifield, Thomas L. Downs, O. M. Barlow, Jack Yeldell, W. T. Blackwell, T. E. Wilson, Gale A. Carter, LeRoy Brown, Warren S. White, G. E. Boggs, E. E. Gregory, Madge Crosby, Harrison Rochau, Jesse Neal, Jr., Orrie White, J. J. Pennington, F. R. Wallace, William S. Gannaway, Mrs. Edith Head, George Rape, Albert Brown (colored), Thomas Agnew, Clinton Parnell, Wesley Albritton, Gerald Owens, R. T. Green, Jr., and Edwin Taylor.

NEGRO IS ARRESTED

Riley Shields, Negro, 33, of Vicksburg, Miss., was arrested by Monroe police early Saturday morning and charged with being drunk and disorderly and displaying a dangerous weapon, to-wit a knife. His bond was fixed at $225.

O. P. H. S. BAND ENDING YEAR

12th Annual Spring Concert To Climax School Season

On May 18, climaxing a year's outstanding work, the Ouachita Parish High School Band, under the direction of Walter C. Minniear, will present its twelfth annual spring concert in the high school auditorium.

The Ouachita band is the only Class A band in the state to receive a superior rating at State Festival for the past two years and, in addition to group work, fifteen soloists were entered who ranked high in their individual work. The first of last month the band successfully completed a state-wide tour, playing concerts in Ruston, Shreveport, Alexandria, and Baton Rouge. Now as finale to a year's achievement a concert of varied interests is planned for the entertainment of the public.

The program will open with the Star Spangled Banner followed by Alford's march, Old Panama. Highlighting the first half of the program will be the Andante Cantabile from Tschaikowsky's Fifth Symphony, the theme of which was developed into a popular tune a few years back. Adagio—from "Cello Concerto" by Haydn will feature Henry Camp as trombone soloist. Also included in this first part of the program will be Sunday Morning at Glion from Bendel's "By the Lake of Geneva."

The second half of the program will include Del Prado Tango and Wood's Man of the Hour March as well as a novelty "Concerto to a One Armed Paper Hanger" by Schlabach featuring a guest soloist and Fantasy on "An Arkansas Traveler," a marimba solo featuring Miss Gloria Strong.

Climaxing the complete program will be Richard Wagner's Wotan's Farewell and Magic Fire Charm Music from "The Valkyries." To this tender yet majestic music the necessary scenery has been to give an eye as well as ear picture of the thrilling story that Wagner has so beautifully developed for opera.

The complete program will be as follows:

Star Spangled Banner
Old Panama March (Alford).
Sunday Morning at Glion (Bendel).
Adajio from "Cello Concerto (Hayden).

AVIATION CADET TRAINING GIVEN

Details Of Requirements And Length Of Study Explained

Plans are being made, during 1948, to greatly increase the intake of pilot classes in aviation cadet training.

Due to the high educational and physical standards required of aviation cadets, the field of qualified applicants is limited.

The following information may be helpful in answering the many questions that may arise in regard to aviation cadet training.

Length Of Training

Aviation cadet training is of one year's duration. The first eight months consist of basic training at Randolph, Goodfellow or Perrin air forces bases in Texas. The last four months are devoted to advanced training at Barksdale air force base, Louisiana, for multi-engine airplanes, and at Williams air force base, Arizona, for single-engine fighters.

System Used

The class system is used at the basic school; that is, the first four months a cadet is a lower classman, and the next four months he is an upper classman.

Subjects Taught

At the beginning of training in ground school, military courtesy and discipline, physical training, drill, etc., take up more time than flying training. As flying gradually increases, ground school decreases, throughout the entire course. The first week is spent totally in training, with no flying. Ground school, which includes meteorology, aerodynamics, military law, engines, radio, and many other subjects, begins the second week, and flying training begins in the third week.

What Is Expected Of Cadets

In both flying and ground school training, the cadet is not tested or expected to know anything more than what has been taught him in the aviation cadet course. The prerequisites of two or more years of college, or the ability to pass a written examination, are required, to ensure that the potential pilot will be able to assimilate the instruction to be given him.

Flying

Flying training begins about the third week and the cadet solos in 18 to 22 hours. The entire basic flying training is in AT-6's, and approximately 120 hours of flying time is accomplished at each school. At the end of the basic training, the class is divided into two groups; one to be trained in single-engine aircraft, and the second group to be trained in multi-engine aircraft.

Assignment After School

In advanced multi-engine flying school at Barksdale air force base, B-25's are used for bombardment training. Upon graduation, some students go to B-29 tactical groups for four-engine training, and others to A-26 groups for further training in two-engine airplanes.

Fighter pilots go to Williams air force base, Arizona, for advanced training in P-51's and P-80's. Assignment from advanced school at Williams air force base are to fighter groups, most of which are now equipped with P-80's, or up-to-date fighter craft.

ST. FRANCIS HAS ITS GRADUATION

19 Receive Diplomas In Impressive Church Commencement

The St. Francis Nurses, class of 1948, received their diplomas at an impressive exercise in St. Matthew's Church the past week. Following the processional, by Sister Aloysius, D. C., there was an address by Rev. Father Arcenius, O. F. M. and diplomas were awarded by Msge. J. C. Marsh.

Charles Biggar rendered Ave Maria impressively and then came the solemn benediction by Rev. Father Natalis O. F. M., Rev. Father T. J. Lennon and Rev. Father G. Martinez. Recessional was by Sister Aloysius, D. C. The master of ceremonies was Rev. Fr. Natalis, O. F. M.

The address to the graduates was in part as follows:

"Dear friends:

"There is always a certain special satisfaction to be found in a task well done. You nurses undoubtedly experience this satisfaction tonight—the night of your graduation from the ranks of student to the rank of graduate nurses. Tonight you join that great "White Parade" whose members have at so many times and so many places expended their energy and strength in alleviating the sufferings of mankind. Our congratulations go out to you tonight on a task well done and an honor well merited.

"The years of training have passed. I am sure that under the guidance of the good Hospital Sisters they have been happy years. Perhaps at times discouragement has set in; difficulties that seemed very great at the time appeared; perhaps you were even tempted many times to give it all up. But you persevered and tonight we who are gathered here honor you and wish you Godspeed in your chosen profession.

"You are indeed members of a great and distinguished profession. For we know that the nursing profession goes back a long way even to ancient times. Certain papers, recently unearthed in the Libyan desert, give evidence that nursing was practiced as a profession amongst the ancient Egyptians. It may interest you to know that nurses of those days were paid for their services just as were storekeepers and officials of the court.

"Though there is evidence of the care of the sick amongst ancient peoples we must not conclude that this solicitude was as universal as it is today. The universal care of the sick is a Christian institution. It came as a result of the teaching of Christ that all men are children of God and heirs of heaven; that He should reward a cup of cold water given in His name; that He would accept as done to Himself whatever was done to one of His less brethern. Since Christ taught the brotherhood of man and the equality of man, of very necessity came the application which included a tender solicitude for all who were in suffering.

"Hence we find that hospitals and the care of the sick progressed wherever Christianity was introduced. As early as the Fourth Century there were hospitals in Cesarea, Constantinople, Rome and most of the large cities of the time. With the conquest of Christianity went the building of hospitals until literally thousands dotted the countries of Europe.

"For centuries all charitable work was under the direction of the church. Those who wished to dedicate their lives to the care of the sick entered a religious association especially devoted to their work. For years they served under experienced nurses of the association until they could be entrusted with separate work. Though the remedies were simple and the methods far from scientific, the nurse brought that skill that comes only with life service and that love that prompts one to regard the suffering sick as the child of God.

"The hospitals were works of architecture, rivalling in beauty and grandeur the gothic churches of the Middle Ages. The greatest artists were called in to embellish the walls with their paintings.

"Time does not permit to enter into an account of the hospitals which are at the present time conducted by the Catholic Sisterhoods. Suffice to say that in practically every large city there can be found one or more hospitals conducted by the Sisters; their popularity with the young people and with the medical profession is sufficient proof of their excellence.

"It was the example of these Sisters that inspired Florence Nightingale to inaugurate the modern schools of nursing as we know them today. She wrote: "I do entirely believe that the religious motive is essential to the highest kind of nurse."

"Yes my friends, the religious motive is essential. Lacking it nursing is just another occupation. With it the nurse feels she is called to the work by God, that it is a part of His work and that she is His follower."

CATAHOULA TO VOTE ON BONDS

Three School Districts To Decide On Expenditure Of $222,500

JONESVILLE, La., May 15.—(Special)—Property owners in three school districts will go to the polls Tuesday to decide on proposed bond issues totalling $222,500 for repairs, improvements and erection of Catahoula parish school facilities.

Largest issue proposed is $120,000 to be expanded at Sicily Island High School where the buildings are in need of repair and an athletic field contemplated. Property owners in Wards 1 and 2 (consolidated district No. 2) will be effective by this proposition.

Voters in Ward 6, or consolidated school district No. 1, will decide on a $90,000 issue for repairs to Block High School and elementary buildings, construction of a school lunchroom at Block, and addition of two rooms to the Catahoula Parish Training School for Negroes.

In Ward 7, which is school district 25, property owners will consider an issue of $12,500 for the construction of a four-room school building which would house a consolidated Boggy Bayou-Larto School. These two communities now each have a two-room building, neither of which is located on school board property. If the vote on the issue is favorable, the board will construct and equip the building on a three-acre tract recently purchased from Lee Crooks.

Although voters in consolidated district No. 2 will vote pro or con on a $120,000 issue, the actual issue may be only $95,000. A separate vote will be made on whether to build a $25,000 school lunchroom or construct a $50,000 new gymnasium. If the lunchroom is preferred, only $95,000 will be sought on the bond market.

Polls will open at 7 a.m. and close at 6 p.m.

Polling places will be as follows:

Consolidated School District No. 1—Bill's Cafe, Jonesville; Dowdy's Store, Utility; Cooper's Store, Walters; McMillin's Store, Wallace Ridge.

Consolidated School District No. 2—Masonic Hall, Sicily Island; Kelly's Store, Foules.

School District 25—Old school house, Palmetto; Clarence Edward's house, Briggs.

DISTRICT GROUP TO MEET

The Central District committee of the Boy Scouts will meet Monday at 7:30 p. m. in the courthouse. This is a most important meeting and all members are urged to attend, states J. W. Webster, district chairman.

TERRY AND THE PIRATES

by GEORGE WUNDER

CONFOUNDED UNFORTUNATE. BUT NO GREAT HARM'S DONE... LET'S RETURN TO TABLE AND GIVE MISS VAN GOBLIN AN OPPORTUNITY TO MAKE REPAIRS AFTER HER ACCIDENTAL DUCKING IN THE POOL, EH?

ER, EXCUSE ME A BIT, PLEASE. YOU GO AHEAD AND I'LL BE ALONG IN A MINUTE OR TWO.

HMMM, OF COURSE, LEE.

GOLLY! NEED A BREATHER TO FIGURE THIS OUT... THE NATIVE DANCING GIRL OVERHEARD MOTLEY TRYING TO SELL ME ON THE IDEA OF JOINING 'EM IN FORCING BRONZ TO PART WITH THE AUTHENTIC ANTIQUE STATUE...SO SHE PUSHED MOTLEY INTO THE POOL...

...THEN, WHEN BRONZ AND THE OTHERS HEARD THE SPLASH AND CAME RUNNING, MOTLEY UNFURLED A FLOCK OF FICTION ABOUT US CONGRATULATING THE BALLET BABE ON HER PERFORMANCE AND THE GAL STUMBLING, ACCIDENTALLY DUCKING MOTLEY.

I FIGURED MOTLEY WAS JUST TOSSING FOURTH-QUARTER PASSES THAT WOULDN'T PAY OFF ONCE THE GAL TOLD BRONZ HER STORY — ONLY INSTEAD, THE DANCE DOLL BACKED UP MOTLEY'S STORY, APOLOGIZED FOR BEING CLUMSY AND TOOK OFF.

...BUT DOGGONE IT! WHY? SHE'S PART OF BRONZ'S PRIVATE CIRCUS AND I DON'T THINK SHE'S EXTRA FOND OF MOTLEY...

OH, OH! THERE SHE GOES. NOW. STILL IN THAT INCREDIBLE COSTUME...

SHE CAME THIS WAY... NOW, WHERE? OH, YEAH THERE SHE IS...

EXCUSE ME, MISS. IF YOU DON'T MIND, I'VE A QUESTION...

I TRUST M'SIEU CARRIES SMELLING SALTS ...IF THE HEADDRESS OF MY COSTUME SHOULD ANSWER THE QUESTION M'SIEU ADDRESSES TO IT SO EARNESTLY, I AM PROBABLY FAINTING DEAD AWAY.

MEANWHILE—IN A NEIGHBORHOOD HANGOUT.

I GOT REAL DOUGH NOW, JOHN, AND I WANT TO MAKE A CLEANING. FIVE HUNDRED ON NUMBER THREE, ACROSS THE BOARD IN THE FOURTH.

YOU KNOW I DON'T TAKE THOSE HEAVY BETS. BESIDES, WHERE DID YOU—

I JUST PASSED YOUR HOUSE. THE PLACE IS AFIRE! AND COPS ARE ALL OVER!

COPS? FIRE?

DRIVE SLOWLY DOWN THAT SECOND ALLEY, BUD. KEEP YOUR ARMS INSIDE AND LOOK STRAIGHT AHEAD.

HE WAS RIGHT! WHY THEM DIRTY -★★@!? THEY'LL MAKE 'ER BLAB! SHE'LL TELL EVERYTHING. I'VE GOT TO DO A FADEOUT.

FEE, FIE, FOE, FUM! ALIVE OR DEAD, I'LL GRIND THEIR BONES TO BAKE MY BREAD!

SCRAM, PAL. GIT GOIN'! THIS IS NO PLACE FOR US!

T. M. REG. U. S. PAT. OFF.

HEAD FOR THE BEANSTALK! IT'S OUR ONLY HOPE OF ESCAPE!

NOT A CHANCE... THAT BIG BRUTE'S CUTTING US OFF!

OH, HO, HO!

LOOK! IF THAT KID GETS DOWN THE VINE, HE'LL CUT IT DOWN AND WE'LL REALLY BE STUCK!

Captain EASY

SLICK MODRED, WHO HAS COMPLETED A MYSTERIOUS INVENTION, VISITS THE MANAGER OF RANGE RETREAT, A LUXURY RESORT

YOU SAY YOU WANT TO SELL ME INSURANCE AGAINST GUESTS LEAVING? WHY, I NEVER HEARD OF SUCH A THING, MR. MODRED!

FUNNY THINGS COULD HAPPEN HERE, MR. JONES!

THE ORCHESTRA MIGHT GET SOUR, FOR INSTANCE! GUESTS MIGHT FIND THINGS-- AH, SHALL WE SAY UNPLEASANT?

SO THAT'S IT! GET OUT! I DON'T DEAL WITH RACKETEERS!

T. M. REG. U. S. PAT. OFF.

I'VE GOT A STAFF OF FAST SHOOTING COWBOYS! LET THAT BE A WARNING!

I'LL PHONE YOU LATER, IN CASE YOU CHANGE YOUR MIND--AND I THINK YOU'LL CHANGE IT!

LATER

I TURNED THE ANIMALS LOOSE, BOSS!

FINE, BORIS! NOW PACK THE EQUIPMENT! YOU'RE GOING TO BE A GUEST AT RANGE RETREAT!

STILL LATER, ON THE HIGHWAY--

THE COYOTE SCARED MY HORSE, THEN FELL OVER-- GOOD HEAVENS! HE ACTS LIKE HE'S-- HE'S DYING!

COULD YOU GIVE ME A LIFT TO RANGE RETREAT? I'M LEE DWIGHT, AN ENTERTAINER THERE! MY HORSE WAS FRIGHTENED BY A COYOTE!

CERTAINLY, MISS!

DID YOU KILL THE COYOTE?

NO, HE JUST FELL OVER DEAD!

I DON'T LIKE HIS SHRIVELED EARS! FATAL DISEASES IN WILD ANIMALS MEAN TROUBLE IN CATTLE COUNTRY!

WE'LL HAVE A VETERINARIAN EXAMINE THE CARCASS!

THERE'S ONE AT RANGE RETREAT WHO LOOKS AFTER THE SADDLE HORSES!

GOOD NIGHT! THAT'S THE COYOTE SLICK WAS EXPERIMENTIN' WITH! I'D KNOW THOSE EARS ANYWHERE!

OUR BOARDING HOUSE

T. M. Reg. U. S. Pat. Off.

EGAD! THIS INFERNAL WART INTERRUPTS EVERYTHING — EVEN AT THE PIANO I KEEP LOOKING AT IT — MOST ANNOYING!

TWIGGS, OLD MAN — WILL YOU ACCOMPANY ME TO THE DOCTOR TO HAVE A WART REMOVED?

YES, BUT CAN'T WE KEEP THE WART AND REMOVE YOU?

I PRESUME THIS SERVICE IS PERFORMED WITHOUT SURGERY IN OUR MODERN DAY!

IT'S A MINOR JOB, AS EASY AS PLUCKING WALNUTS OFF CAKE!

I DON'T MIND SURGERY, OF COURSE — ONCE IN THE JUNGLE A NATIVE HAD TO CHOP A SPEAR OUT OF MY BACK WITH A HATCHET!

ANOTHER TIME, AFLOAT ON A RAFT, I RIPPED OFF A BOARD WITH A NAIL IN IT, AND REMOVED A MAN'S APPENDIX =

AH, GOOD DAY, DR. BROWN! I CAME TO HAVE THIS WART REMOVED!

SURE, MAJOR! HOP UP ON THE TABLE AND I'LL CUT IT OFF!

UG-ULP! YOU'LL — YOU SAY — YOU'LL — AWPF!

CATCH HIM! HE'S DOING A FADEOUT!

5-16

HE LIVES IN THE NEXT BLOCK!

JUST A SLIGHT CASE OF SHOCK — HE'LL BE OKAY WITH A DAY'S REST!
